iMedia Sarah Kember,2016-04-05 What can queer feminist writing strategies such as parody and irony do to outsmart the sexism of smart objects environments and materials and open out the new dialecticism of structure and scale critique and creativity Drawing on science and technology studies and feminist theory this book examines the gendering of current and future media technologies such as smart phones Google glass robot nurses tablets and face recognition Kember argues that there is a tendency to affirm and celebrate the existence of smart and often sexist objects environments and materials in themselves to elide writing and other forms of mediation and to engage in disembodied knowledge practices Disembodied knowledge practices tend towards a scientism that currently includes physics envy and are also masculinist Where there is some degree of convergence between masculinist and feminist thinking about objects environments and materials there is also divergence conflict and the possible opening towards a politics of imedia Presenting a lively manifesto for refiguring imedia this book forms an often neglected gender critique of developments in smart technologies and will be essential reading for scholars in Communication Studies Cultural and Media Science and Technology and Feminism

Cognition and Interaction: From Computers to Smart Objects and Autonomous Agents Amon Rapp, Maurizio Tirassa, Tom Ziemke, 2019-10-10 Cognitive sciences have been involved under numerous accounts to explain how humans interact with technology as well as to design technological instruments tailored to human needs As technological advancements in fields like wearable and ubiquitous computing virtual reality robotics and artificial intelligence are presenting novel modalities for interacting with technology there are opportunities for deepening exploring and even rethinking the theoretical foundations of human technology use This volume entitled Cognition and Interaction From Computers to Smart Objects and Autonomous Agents is a collection of articles on the impacts that novel 3 September Frontiers in Psychology 2019 Cognition and Interaction interactive technologies are producing on individuals It puts together 17 works spanning from research on social cognition in human robot interaction to studies on neural changes triggered by Internet use that tackle relevant technological and theoretical issues in human computer interaction encouraging us to rethink how we conceptualize technology its use and development The volume addresses fundamental issues at different levels The first part revolves around the biological impacts that technologies are producing on our bodies and brains The second part focuses on the psychological level exploring how our psychological characteristics may affect the way we use understand and perceive technology as well as how technology is changing our cognition The third part addresses relevant theoretical problems presenting reflections that aim to reframe how we conceptualize ourselves technology and interaction itself Finally the last part of the volume pays attention to the factors involved in the design of technological artifacts providing suggestions on how we can develop novel technologies closer to human needs Overall it appears that human computer interaction will have to face a variety of challenges to account for the rapid changes we are witnessing in the current technology landscape
