

Reactivity of Alkaline Earth Metals and Alkali Metals Lab

Name _____ Answer Key _____ Period _____

Introduction

The elements in group 2 of the Periodic Table are called the Alkaline Earth metals. These were called the earthy because chemists because they were first isolated from compounds found in the earth. The metals were combined with oxygen. The alkaline part of the name comes from the fact that they form basic pH of alkaline solutions in water. The group is composed of beryllium, magnesium, calcium, strontium, barium and radium.

All alkaline earth metals have 2 valence electrons, which they tend to give up easily, making them quite reactive. They are so reactive that they are never found uncombined in nature. In order for these shiny white metals to remain in their unreacted state, they must be protected from air and water. Magnesium and calcium, for example, are obtained in their elemental state by a chemical process called electrolysis and then stored in airtight containers.

In this investigation you will explore the reactivity of magnesium and calcium, two of the more common alkaline earth metals. You will then compare these metals with aluminum, a member of group 3.

The elements in group 1 of the Periodic Table are called the alkali metals. These metals are even more reactive than the Alkaline Earth metals and so they are also not found in their elemental form. The group is composed of lithium, sodium, potassium, rubidium, and cesium.

All Alkali metals have 1 valence electron, which they give up so readily that these demonstrations cannot be performed without significant safety precautions.
