Prior Knowledge Questions (Do these BEFORE using the Gizmo.)

1. What are some of the different substances that make up a pizza? _____ pizza sauce dough
2. What substances make up water? two hydrogen and oxygen
3. What substances make up an iron pot? the element iron

Elements are pure substances that are made up of one kind of atom. Pizza is not an element because it is a mixture of many substances. Water is a pure substance, but it contains two kinds of atom: oxygen and hydrogen. Iron is an element because it is composed of one kind of atom.

Gizmo Warm-up

Atoms are tiny particles of matter that are made up of three particles: protons, neutrons, and electrons. The Element Builder Gizmo shows an atom with a single proton. The proton is located in the center of the atom, called the nucleus.

1. Use the arrow buttons (↔) to add protons, neutrons, and electrons to the atom. Press Play (▶).

A. Which particles are located in the nucleus?

Protons and neutrons

B. Which particles orbit around the nucleus?

Electrons

2. Turn on Show element name. What causes the element name to change? Adding or subtracting protons and neutrons.

Primary Mathematics Penelope Serow, Rosemary Callingham, Tracey Muir, 2014-01-20 Primary Mathematics provides a comprehensive introduction to teaching and learning mathematics in today's classrooms Drawing links to the Australian Curriculum this book covers the core learning areas of measurement space and geometry early number concepts data and statistics chance and probability and patterns and algebra At the centre of this book is the belief that ICT can be a powerful tool for enhancing student learning Although many classrooms have been resourced with computers interactive whiteboards and mobile technology teachers need to be able to transform these technological tools into meaningful teaching and learning experiences This book explores the ways in which technology can be integrated into the mathematics classroom The book also explores issues around student diversity assessment for of and as learning and teaching in rural and remote areas Primary Mathematics is an indispensable resource for pre and in service teachers alike Transforming Curriculum Through Teacher-Learner Partnerships Nair, Pradeep, Keppell, Michael James, Lim, Chee Leong, Mari, Tamil Salvi, Hassan, Nurhanim, 2020-12-11 Empowering learners for life requires a fundamental shift in higher education curriculum design New priorities pedagogies technologies spaces and assessment strategies are required to enable learners to take ownership of their learning Student centeredness concepts are still prescriptive in nature as most decisions on curriculum assessment teaching and learning approaches are still teacher centric Teachers are developing student centered learning environments without the involvement of the learners in the planning decision making and or design process In addition some lecturers are still practicing the traditional approaches of content delivery and conventional assessment methods rather than experimenting with innovative practices suited for student centered approaches Therefore there is an ongoing need for research focused on the importance and effectiveness of a paradigm shift in education that involves student teacher partnerships fueled by innovative teaching and learning designs where students take an active role and contribute as partners in learning Transforming Curriculum Through Teacher Learner Partnerships captures experiences and evidence among teachers in exploring the possibility of active student participation in curriculum design delivery and assessment through teacher learner partnership The chapters address issues of teacher learner partnerships in designing the learning environment and how student centered methods create resilient adaptable and future capable learners While highlighting topics within this scope such as learner autonomy learning performance self efficacy and teaching pedagogy this book is ideally intended for teachers administrators teacher educators practitioners stakeholders researchers academicians and students interested in issues related to the teacher learner partnership

Proving in the Elementary Mathematics Classroom Andreas J. Stylianides, 2016 Although proving is core to mathematics as a sense making activity it currently has a marginal place in elementary classrooms internationally Blending research with practical perspectives this book addresses what it would take to elevate the place of proving at elementary school The book uses classroom episodes from two countries to examine different kinds of proving tasks and the proving activity they can generate in the elementary classroom It examines further the role of teachers in mediating the relationship between proving tasks and proving activity including major mathematical and pedagogical issues that arise for teachers as they implement each kind of proving task In addition to its contribution to research knowledge the book has important implications for teaching curricular resources and teacher education

Learning and Research in Virtual Worlds Jeremy Hunsinger, Aleks Krotoski, 2013-09-13 Virtual worlds are places where humans interact and as such they can be environments for research and learning However they are complex and mutable in ways that more controlled and traditional environments are not Although computer mediated virtual worlds are multifaceted social systems like the offline world and choosing to study virtual world phenomena demands as much consideration for the participants the environment and the researcher as offline By exploring virtual worlds as places of research and learning the international practitioners in this book demonstrate the power of these worlds to replicate and extend our arenas of research and learning They focus on process and outcomes and consider questions that arise from engaging in teaching and research in these spaces including new approaches to research ethics internationalization localization and collaboration in virtual worlds This book was originally published as a special issue of Learning Media Technology
