Neuropsychological Evaluation of the Spanish Speaker Alfredo Ardila, Monica Rosselli, Antonio E. Puente, 2013-06-29 This book is the culmination of a research program conducted in Colombia during the past several years. The fundamental aim of the program was to develop neuropsychological tests for Spanish speakers especially elderly individuals and those with limited educational attainment. The lack of norms for these populations represents a significant practical problem not only in developing countries but also in more developed countries. For example, norms are usually obtained with middle class Anglo Saxon English speaking populations often university students and such norms do not usually include individuals older than 65 years. Furthermore, very few neuropsychological tests have been developed for Spanish speakers frequently tests are translated into Spanish often poor translations at that but the norms used are still those obtained from English speaking populations. This volume summarizes the normative results of this research program. We anticipate that these tests and norms will be particularly useful in the neuropsychological evaluation of Spanish speakers especially those with limited educational attainment and the elderly. The United States represents the fifth largest Spanish speaking country in the world after Mexico, Spain, Argentina, and Colombia with over 20 million speakers. It is anticipated that by the year 2025 there will be as many Hispanics in the United States as members of all other ethnic minority groups combined. Further, about 10% of the U.S. population are considered functionally illiterate with Hispanics representing an unusually large segment.

Diagnostic Test Accuracy Studies in Dementia A. J. Larner, 2019-07-03 The new and updated edition of this book explains the key steps in planning and executing diagnostic test accuracy studies in dementia serving as an introduction to the topic with clear explanations of difficulties and pitfalls. It has been fully revised in light of developments over the past 5 years and includes STARD publications which have appeared since the first edition as well as the use of biomarkers of cognitive disorders as increasingly enshrined in diagnostic criteria. The book covers the presentation of study results in terms of measures of discrimination taking examples from studies in dementia looking at various diagnostic methods including cognitive instruments, neuroimaging, and biochemical studies. The book continues to reflect the author's own experience in diagnostic test accuracy studies particularly in the sphere of cognitive screening instruments. Diagnostic Test Accuracy Studies in Dementia encourages clinicians to adopt a pragmatic approach to diagnostic test accuracy studies rooted in day to day clinical practice.
