

6 ACTIVE READING STRATEGIES

The following explains how to use each of the active reading strategies:

Visualize

Describe the images you see as the author describes them. Use the details from the text to create the "movie in your mind."

Predict

Try to figure out what will happen next and how the selection might end. Then read on to see how accurate your guesses are.

Clarify

STOP AND PAY ATTENTION. Summarize/explain what you have read. This is a great place to stop and check whether you understand the text. Read on (and sometimes even reread) and your understanding may change and develop. When you find the answers to any questions you have had, note them in the text.

Connect

Connect personally with what you are reading. Think of similarities between the descriptions in the selection and what you have personally experienced, seen, and heard or read about. Also, connect to anything you may have already read or seen in media (movies, news broadcasts, newspapers, magazines, Internet).

Question

Ask questions about the text. What are you confused by? What is motivating the character(s)? Why are certain things happening?

Evaluate

Form opinions about what you've read, both while you're reading and after you've finished. Develop your own ideas about characters and events. Make a logical guess or come to a conclusion based from the story or text.

Antigone Active Reading Strategies:

Antigone on the Contemporary World Stage Erin B. Mee, Helene P. Foley, 2011-06-16 Sophocles Antigone has been staged all over the world and many of these productions have reconceived and remade the play to address local issues and concerns. This collection of essays explores the play's reception in numerous countries as diverse as The Congo and Australia, Argentina and Japan. The Language of Literature McDougal Littell Incorporated, 2002 Antigone's Example Mihoko Suzuki, 2022-06-21 This book investigates early modern women's interventions in politics and the public sphere during times of civil war in England and France. Taking this transcultural and comparative perspective and the period designation early modern expansively, Antigone's Example identifies a canon of women's civil war writings; it elucidates their historical specificity as well as the transhistorical context of civil war, a context which it argues enabled women's participation in political thought. Antigone, in Her Unbearable Splendor Charles Freeland, 2013-06-01 A study of Lacan's engagement with the Western philosophical traditions of ethical and political thought in his seventh seminar and later work. Studying Lacan's Seminar VII Carol Owens, 2023-11-24 Studying Lacan's Seminar VII offers a contemporary, critically informed set of analyses of Lacan's ethics seminar and astute reflections about what Lacan's ethics offer to the field of psychoanalytic thought today. The volume interrogates the seminar with fresh voices and situated curiosities and perspectives, making for a compellingly exciting range of explorations of the crucial matters related to an ethics of psychoanalysis. The chapters question and tease out the paradoxes Lacan draws attention to in his seminar of 1959-1960, and in addition they offer radical engagements with the seminar in light of theories of racism, inequality, capitalism, education, and subjectivity. The key elements in Lacan's seminar are explained, debated, and reconsidered with Antigone, das Ding, and the inevitable ne ceder pas sur son d'sir duly unpacked, examined, and ruminated upon. Studying Lacan's Seminar VII will be of interest to psychoanalytic scholars and students of Lacanian psychoanalysis as well as psychoanalytic therapists and analysts. It will also be of interest to scholars and students of politics, philosophy, and studies at the intersections of racism, film, feminism, sociology, gender, and queer theory. Step Aside Sarah M. Zerwin, 2024-12-09 All students can drive their own learning when we show them how. Humanized, equitable classrooms start with a commitment to building student agency. Step Aside offers clear, streamlined guidance for launching secondary students into high-level work that hinges on their ideas and insights. Sarah Zerwin writes from the complex and challenging space of daily life in a classroom. She knows student-driven learning does not mean students make all decisions about what happens in the classroom. It occupies a more nuanced space where teachers carefully curate the classroom experience and teach students how to navigate it on their own. Sarah has done the work to weave many resources into a Three-Step Meaning-Making Process that grows students' thinking. Each chapter offers effective, flexible strategies to put into practice immediately. Reading strategies that work for any text students need or want to read. Writing strategies that work for any text students need or want to write. Discussion strategies that students can use to talk things out.
