Directions: Read the passage and answer the questions.

The American Revolution was a struggle over the right to self-governance. It took place between 1775 and 1783. The American colonies fought for independence from Great Britain. Over the course of the revolution, the colonies fought to break free from British rule and form their own nation. The revolution changed the way people thought about government and freedom and it helped lay the foundation for the United States of America.

The Causes of the American Revolution

The American Revolution began because of a number of reasons. One of the main causes was the issue of taxation. The British government wanted the colonies to pay for the costs of running the empire. The colonies, however, believed that they should not be taxed by a government they did not control. This led to a series of protests and boycotts. The British government responded by passing laws that were seen as unfair. This led to the outbreak of the revolution.
