international economic law and development The Economics of Public Enterprise V. V. Ramanadham,2019-02-11 Public enterprises have played a central part in the development of all mixed economies in the post war period but they are now in a crisis phase Privatisation has pushed back the level of public enterprise almost throughout the world Where public enterprises remain they are being brought under significant reforms Originally published in 1991 this book presents a comprehensive critique of public enterprise analysing why its performance has fallen far short of expectations Part one is concerned with the establishment of public enterprises the case for them the circumstances in which they emerged the extra enterprise objectives attached to them and the decisions on their investment feasibility and capital structure Part two looks at the working of public enterprises the state of their financial performance the peculiarities of pricing the determination of targets which they should meet the continuous monitoring and evaluation of their operations Macro concerns are the focus of Part three Among the issues addressed are the level of indirect taxation and subsidisation implicit in the pricing structures of public enterprises the links between public enterprise and the public exchequer and the implications of their operations for distributional equity In Part four the extent to which privatisation can solve the problems of public enterprise is discussed The book ends with some broad conclusions on the future of public enterprise Throughout the approach is analytical but the arguments are supported by extensive examples from both developed and developing economies The Economist ,2003

Inequality and Climate Change Delgado-Ramos, Gian Carlo,2015-12-01 Climate change is one of the most pressing challenges of the twenty first century Anthropogenic activities such as fossil fuel consumption and other activities focused on enhancing economic growth have been identified as the main drivers of changes in the environment that defy planetary boundaries. The transgression of planetary boundaries has profound implications for practically all biophysical and human systems and their impact could also be related to the exacerbation of existing problems such as land tenure insecurity, poverty and inequality, marginalization of poorer populations, climate-induced migration and resource wars or conflicts. From a global South perspective, research on the multifaceted nature of climate change is thus necessary and appropriate, including the analysis of socioeconomic, political and cultural aspects. This book is an outcome of the Comparative Research Workshop on Inequality and Climate Change Perspectives from the South of the South-South Collaborative Programme of CLACSO-CODESRIA IDEAS. It gathers a diversity of case studies from the South with ample biophysical differences and particular social and cultural realities. As such, it is a fresh contribution offering a vantage point from which to examine some of the current perspectives on inequality and climate change.

Community-based Water Law and Water Resource Management Reform in Developing Countries Mark Giordano, John Butterworth, 2007-01-01. The fifteen chapters of this book analyse the living community-based water laws in Africa, Latin America and Asia and critically examine the interface between community-based water laws, formal water laws and a variety of other key institutional ingredients of on-going water resources management reform.

Climate Change and Tourism in Southern Africa Jarkko Saarinen, Jennifer Fitchett, Gijsbert Hoogendoorn, 2022-03-30. This book explores the nature of climate change in southern Africa, its impacts on tourism and the resilience, adaptation and governance needs in various tourism operations and environments. Previous studies on climate change and tourism have mainly focused on the Global North and specific forms of tourism such as snow-based winter activities. Drawing on case studies from a wide range of countries including South Africa, Lesotho, Namibia, Botswana and Zimbabwe, this book fills this lacuna by describing and analysing the climate change and tourism nexus in the southern African context. The book begins by providing an overview of the current and estimated impacts of climate change to the tourism industry in the region, highlighting the deepening socio-economic inequities and environmental and social injustices. It focuses on the importance of sustainable tourism in tackling these issues and highlights that resilience and robust governance and policy systems are essential for a tourism destination to successfully adapt to change. By synthesising the key lessons learned through this analysis, Climate Change and Tourism in Southern Africa also draws attention to specific adaptation and policy strategies which have value for other regions in the Global South. This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of climate change, tourism and environmental policy and justice.

A review on compliance and impact monitoring indicators for delivery of forest ecosystem services Sini Savilaakso, Erik Meijaard, Manuel R. Guariguata, Manuel Boissiere, Louis Putzel, 2015-07-01. Ecosystem services and goods are the multiple benefits people obtain from ecosystems. The benefits provided by forests include carbon sequestration, prevention of erosion, flood control and water purification as well as aesthetic beauty. Although humans are fundamentally dependent on these services they also pose threat to the services through their activities such as deforestation and water pollution

Environmental Economics and Ecosystem Services Randall Bluffstone, 2025-02-07 Environmental Economics and Ecosystem Services provides a rigorous yet accessible introduction to environmental economics using ecosystem services as the underlying framework Assuming no prior knowledge of economics and using a conversational writing style the focus is on exploring society's linkages with the environment and how economics can help solve key environmental problems Structured in three parts the book first introduces readers to the key theories in environmental economics and ecosystem services and then explores the challenges of conservation The final section examines environmental policy options such as cap and trade behavioral nudges community based natural resource management and carbon taxes There is a strong international focus throughout the book with real life examples taken from North America Europe Asia Africa and other regions Students are supported by a range of pedagogical features including chapter objectives chapter summaries discussion questions and further reading suggestions In addition the book offers worked examples analytical problems and Challenge Yourself boxes to develop critical thinking skills Lecture slides and answers to questions for discussion and practice problems are available for instructors This is the ideal text for introductory courses in environmental economics ecological economics economics of sustainability environmental management environmental policy and ecosystem services

Agricultural Development and Food Security in Africa Renu Modi, Fantu Cheru, 2013-08-08 The subject of food security and land issues in Africa has become one of increased importance and contention over recent years In particular the focus has shifted to the role new global South donors especially India China and Brazil are playing in shaping African agriculture through their increased involvement and investment in the continent Approaching the topic through the framework of South South co operation this highly original volume presents a critical analysis of the ways in which Chinese Indian and Brazilian engagements in African agriculture are structured and implemented Do these investments have the potential to create new opportunities to improve local living standards transfer new technology and knowhow to African producers and reverse the persistent productivity decline in African agriculture Or will they simply aggravate the problem of food insecurity by accelerating the process of land alienation and displacement of local people from their land Topical and comprehensive Agricultural Development and Food Security in Africa offers fresh insight into a set of relationships that will shape both Africa and the world over the coming decades

Economics and HIV Deborah Johnston, 2013-05-29 This book explains how and why economics has been applied to a terrible pandemic using a range of examples mostly drawn from the region most affected sub Saharan Africa Part I shows that microeconomic approaches have found fertile ground in a public health approach that blames individual choices for HIV transmission Despite their attractiveness however these approaches fail to explain contemporary patterns of HIV prevalence illustrating the importance of factors that are excluded from the standard micro economic approach Part II of the book looks at our problems in understanding the economic impact of AIDS and explains why economists cannot agree if epidemic disease is a good or bad thing for economic development In both sections of the book the potential for alternative approaches is shown and the book ends by arguing that a political economy approach can bring meaningful insights to our understanding of the spread and impact of HIV AIDS Environmental Impacts of Transnational Corporations in the Global South Paul

Cooney, William Sacher, 2018-11-30 This volume explores the impact of Transnational Corporations TNCs on the environment of the Global South during this period of neoliberal globalization It develops themes around transnational extractive activity the impact of transnational capital on indigenous populations and the role played by international institutions Cumulated
