2014 Life Sciences Paper Limpopo:

Limpopo Life Anneli Ekblom, Michel Notelid, 2025-06-20 Limpopo Life introduces the reader to the material culture oral histories and the negotiation of conservation and landscape in an area now known as Limpopo National Park. Introducing the archaeology of a region that has not been surveyed or discussed, this book connects to the archaeology, history, heritage and conservation discussions in the southern African region as a whole. Vegetation history and paleoecology are combined with archaeological surveys and excavations, written sources, oral histories and travelogues to draw a picture of the diverse landscape of the Limpopo region. Intermixed within this narrative are sections that focus on an individual species, a life history or an event, providing a view of the complex and dynamic interactions. The role of humans in this diverse environment and how they have co-evolved with other species, shaping each other's destinies in a consequential and accidental way, is outlined. This book will be of interest to researchers and students interested in the archaeology, heritage and conservation of Mozambique, Zimbabwe and northern South Africa. It will also be of relevance to readers interested in the social history of the Limpopo and Kruger National Parks and this cross-border area.

Climate Change 2014 - Impacts, Adaptation and Vulnerability: Regional Aspects Christopher B. Field, Vicente R. Barros, 2014-12-29 This latest Fifth Assessment Report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) will again form the standard reference for all those concerned with climate change and its consequences, including students, researchers and policy makers in environmental science, meteorology, climatology, biology, ecology, atmospheric chemistry and environmental policy.

Family Demography and Post-2015 Development Agenda in Africa Clifford O. Odimegwu, 2019-08-27 This book is a comprehensive analysis of the structure, determinants and consequences of changes in sub-Saharan African families, thereby representing an Afrocentric description of the emerging trends. It documents various themes in the sub-disciplines of family demography. The first section of the book focuses on philosophical understanding of African family, its theoretical perspectives and comparative analysis of family in the 20th and 21st centuries. The second section covers family formation, union dissolution, emerging trend in single parenthood and adolescents in the family. The following section describes types, determinants and consequences of African family changes, health, childbearing, youth development, teen pregnancy and family violence, and the last chapter provides systematic evidence on existing laws and policies governing African family structure and dynamics. As such, it illustrates the importance of family demography in African demographic discourse and will be an interesting read to scholars and students in the field of demography, social workers, policy makers, departments of Social Development in countries in Africa and relevant international agencies and all those interested in understanding the African family trajectory.

Proceedings of the International Conference on Entrepreneurship, Leadership and Business Innovation (ICELBI 2022) Donard Games, Maruf, 2024-01-09 This is an open access book. 1 through 3 Handbook of Research on Protecting and Managing Global Indigenous Knowledge Systems Tshifhumulo, Rendani, Makhanikhe, Tshimangadzo Justice, 2021-10-08 Indigenous knowledge systems IKS are a combination of knowledge systems encompassing technology social economic and philosophical learning or educational legal and governance systems The lack of documentation of these systems presents a problem as the knowledge is fading away over time In response it is essential that policies and strategies are undertaken to ensure that these systems are protected and sustained for generations to come The Handbook of Research on Protecting and Managing Global Indigenous Knowledge Systems is a comprehensive reference source that works to preserve indigenous knowledge systems through research Focusing on key concepts such as tools of indigenous knowledge management and African indigenous symbols the book preserves and promotes indigenous knowledge through research and fills the void staff and students within the field of indigenous knowledge systems face with the current lack of research and resources This book is ideal for university students lecturers researchers academicians policymakers historians sociologists and anyone interested in the field of indigenous knowledge systems Empowerment, adaptation, and agricultural production Wouterse, Fleur Stephanie, 2017-05-19 Located at the heart of West Africa Niger is a landlocked country with three quarters of its territory covered by the Sahara Desert Niger's climate is mostly arid and it is one of the least developed countries in the world The vast majority of its population lives in rural areas and the country is strongly dependent on agriculture Agriculture is predominantly rainfed and yields rely on one rainy season Although productivity in Niger has shown a positive trend agriculture has been strongly affected in recent decades by several crises partly or entirely due to extreme weather events Farmers pursue a number of strategies in the face of climatic and nonclimatic stressors including soil and water conservation methods such as barriers terracing and planting pits and their adaptive capacity is deemed critical for estimating the economic impact of climate change An understanding of climate change adaptation processes at the farm household level is therefore crucial to the development of well designed and targeted mitigation policies In this study we use new data from Niger and regression analysis to study climate change adaptation through the digging of za pits and food production and the role of human capital measures therein We find that adaptation is influenced by the perception that the frequency of droughts has increased and by the availability of financial resources and household labor Adaptation is also influenced by educational attainment both formal and Koranic school education Adaptation of za pits is found to play an important role in food productivity Our counterfactual analysis reveals that even though all households would benefit from adaptation the effect is found to be significantly larger for households that actually did adapt relative to those that did not indicating that the prospects of closing the productivity gap through encouraging adaptation in less well endowed households are limited Systems Analysis Approach for Complex Global Challenges Priscilla Mensah, David Katerere, Sepo Hachigonta, Andreas Roodt, 2018-04-09 This book which contains a collection of review articles as well as focus on evidence based policy making will serve as a valuable resource not just for all postgraduate students conducting research using systems analysis thinking but also for policy makers To our knowledge a book of this nature which also has a strong African focus is currently not available The book examines environmental and socio economic risks with the aim of providing an analytical foundation for the management and governance of natural resources disasters addressing climate change and easing the technological and ecological transitions to sustainability It provides scientific and strategic analysis to better understand the dynamics of future energy transitions their main driving forces enabling factors barriers as well as their consequences for the social economic and environmental dimensions of human wellbeing Science based policy advice is achieved through an integrated assessment and modeling of how to simultaneously address the major energy policy challenges in the areas of environment climate change and air pollution energy poverty or access to affordable and clean energy for the poor energy security and reliability It also aims to improve our understanding of ecosystems and their management in today s changing world in particular the current state of ecosystems and their ecological thresholds and buffering capacities It provides support for policy makers in developing rational realistic and science based regional national and global strategies for the production of fuel food and fibre that sustain ecosystem services and safeguard food security Finally it addresses the human development dimension of global change based on comprehensive studies on the changing size and composition of human populations around the world by analyzing both their impacts and the differential vulnerabilities by age gender and level of education

The Political Economy of Energy in Sub-Saharan Africa Lucky E. Asuelime, Andrew Emmanuel Okem, 2017-09-29 A deepening ecological crisis is rearing its head in sub Saharan Africa as it faces a myriad of challenges in regards to the development of its energy sector The dirty now and clean up later approach to the environment has a strong appeal particularly because it is often thought of as the last place to try to edge in another priority especially if that priority is perceived by many to be an economic luxury Asuelime and Okem bring together a team of specialist contributors who investigate to what extent sub Saharan Africa has displayed foresight or politico economic integrity The book shows the state s ability to meet the demands of provision of energy in sub Saharan Africa has led to heavy investments in infrastructure transmission and distribution of energy to the citizens However the inefficiencies corruption and unhealthy bureaucratic challenges that accompany this have led urgent problems which will be thoroughly explored in this book The Political Economy of Energy in Sub Saharan Africa will be of interest to students and scholars of African Studies Development Studies political science and environment

Water is Life Hellum, Anne, Kameri-Mbote, Patricia, 2015-10-19 This book approached water and sanitation as an African gender and human rights issue Empirical case studies from Kenya Malawi South Africa and Zimbabwe show how coexisting international national and local regulations of water and sanitation respond to the ways in which different groups of rural and urban women gain access to water for personal domestic and livelihood purposes The authors who are lawyers sociologists political scientists and anthropologists explore how women cope in contexts where they lack secure rights and participation in water governance institutions formal and informal The research shows how women as producers of family food rely on water from multiple sources that are governed by community based norms and institutions which recognise the right to water for livelihood How these common pool water resources due to protection gaps in both international and national law are threatened by large scale development and commercialisation initiatives facilitated through national permit systems is a key concern The studies demonstrate that existing water governance structures lack mechanisms which make them accountable to poor and vulnerable water users on the ground most importantly women The findings thus underscore the need to intensify measures to hold states accountable not just in water services provision but in assuring the basic human right to clean drinking water and sanitation and also to protect water for livelihoods Climate Change 2014 - Impacts, Adaptation and Vulnerability: Part B: Regional Aspects: Volume 2, Regional Aspects
