All over the world economic inclusion has risen to the top of the development discourse. A well performing education system is central to achieving inclusive development but the challenge of improving educational outcomes has proven to be unexpectedly difficult. Access to education has increased but quality remains low with weaknesses in governance comprising an important part of the explanation. The Politics and Governance of Basic Education explores the balance between hierarchical and horizontal institutional arrangements for the public provision of basic education. Using the vivid example of South Africa, a country that had ambitious goals at the outset of its transition from apartheid to democracy, it explores how the interaction of politics and institutions affects educational outcomes. By examining lessons learned from how South Africa failed to achieve many of its goals, it constructs an innovative alternative strategy for making progress combining practical steps to achieve incremental gains to re-orient the system towards learning.

Co-teaching and co-research in contexts of inequality Phindile Zifikile Shangase, Daniela Gachago, Eunice Ndeto Ivala, 2023-05-09. There has been a recent surge of interest in the concept of co-teaching and co-research across institutions of HE locally and globally as a response to limited international mobility due to COVID-19. We see co-teaching and co-research as teaching and research that connects educators and learners across different institutions and different contexts, be it across South Africa, Africa or the world. Co-teaching and co-research is linked in this book to the term networked learning following the Networked Learning Editorial Collective's emphasis on relationships and collaboration rather than technology and foregrounding our strong commitment to social justice. Our collective experiences have shown that co-teaching and co-research are not easy endeavours, especially when they involve differently positioned and differently resourced contexts, students and academics. While these collaborations are enriching and exciting, they need careful support, preparation and time for sustained relationship building, topics that we find are not necessarily discussed in the literature around co-teaching and co-research. This book is an attempt towards closing this gap in knowledge by providing a range of chapters documenting personal experiences of academics and practitioners engaging in co-teaching and co-research across the African continent and beyond, facilitated by various networked learning tools and technologies. Framed by a spirit of sharing and connection, the book provides insights into the benefits and challenges of such collaborations, affordances of technologies to bridge unequal divides, emerging practices of continental collaboration and beyond. Additionally, the book provides an unusually honest and nuanced view on co-teaching and co-research across contexts of inequalities, foregrounding relationship and community building rather than technology and emphasising the importance of sustained connection and reflection in these collaborations. Applying a wide range of critical theoretical frameworks, these evidence based but also reflective and reflexive contributions are a unique and important reminder that behind and through our screens we connect as humans who yearn to learn from each other but also need to learn how to learn from each other when we do not share the same world views Clever Blacks, Jesus and Nkandla Gareth Van Onselen, 2014-05-08 Jacob Zuma is a man who walks in two worlds As president of South Africa he is tasked with upholding the principles that define the Constitution and embodying the values they are designed to engender But as an individual a set of private impulses ranging from his religious beliefs to his traditional African cultural convictions to a populist and patriarchal attitude to power defines his world view and many of these impulses run counter to the Bill of Rights The result is an often violent clash between his formal duties and more informal demagogic instincts South Africa's public debate is where that conflict plays itself out Here Gareth van Onselen has put together a comprehensive collection of Zuma's most controversial and often contradictory public statements With some 350 quotes collected along ten themes that define Zuma's personal beliefs Clever Blacks Jesus and Nkandla documents some of Zuma's most notorious moments It aims to serve as both an easy guide to Zuma's personal philosophy and a reference point for some of the debates that have defined his political career The quotes represent one of the fundamental fault lines that run through South African discourse today a society trapped between its Third World realities and its much vaunted First World ambitions In many ways Zuma is the epicentre around which the subsequent debate has unfolded
