The Invention of Art History in Ancient Greece Jeremy Tanner, 2006-03-23 The ancient Greeks developed their own very specific ethos of art appreciation advocating a rational involvement with art This book explores why the ancient Greeks started to write art history and how the writing of art history transformed the social functions of art in the Greek world It looks at the invention of the genre of portraiture and the social uses to which portraits were put in the city state Later chapters explore how artists sought to enhance their status by writing theoretical treatises and producing works of art intended for purely aesthetic contemplation which ultimately gave rise to the writing of art history and to the development of art collecting The study which is illustrated throughout and draws on contemporary perspectives in the sociology of art will prompt the student of classical art to rethink fundamental assumptions about Greek art and its cultural and social implications

Art History, Art Criticism, and Art Production: Comparing the process of change across districts

Milbrey Wallin McLaughlin, Margaret Ann Thomas, Michael Day, Rand Corporation, 1984 This report conveys the findings from a cross site analysis of seven school districts that were implementing a discipline based approach to visual arts education A discipline based approach incorporates four art disciplines in the classroom art history art criticism aesthetics and art production The study sought to identify the factors that generate support for a strong substantive art education program in a district s curriculum and what factors influence districts and teachers to maintain a discipline based art education program The study s findings suggest that to become academically respectable and support the factors necessary for change a visual arts program must have these basic characteristics an articulated conceptual base and a written sequential curriculum that reflects this base

Art History, Art Criticism, and Art Production: Case studies of seven selected sites ,1984 This study attempts to discover 1 the factors that generate support for a strong substantive art education program in a district s curriculum and 2 what factors influence the willingness and ability of school districts and teachers to carry out and maintain a discipline based art education that strives for balance among the historical critical and productive domains of the visual arts It uses case studies of seven sites Whitehall Ohio Hopkins Minnesota Palo Alto California Decatur and Champaign Illinois Brooklyn New York Milwaukee Wisconsin and Virginia Beach Virginia As a group the case studies illustrate the importance of support from school board members superintendents and principals of a written curriculum and of in service training They provide examples of school museum collaboration and dispel the notion that systematic instruction compromises or constrains individual creativity
