A Good Man Is Hard To Find Full Text:

"A Good Man is Hard to Find" Flannery O'Connor, 1993 Presents a chronology of the life of author Flannery O'Connor comments and letters by the author about the story and a series of ten critical essays by noted authors about her work

Witnessing Sadism in Texts of the American South Claire Raymond, 2019-10-28 Looking at works by Carrie Mae Weems Toni Morrison Emily Dickinson Flannery O'Connor Dorothy Allison Carson McCullers and Zora Neale Hurston Claire Raymond uncovers a pattern of femininity constructed around representations of sadistic violence in American women's literature and photography from the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries Dickinson's poetry is read through its relationship to the Southern Agrarian critics who championed her work While the representations of violence found in Carrie Mae Weems's installation From Here I Saw What Happened and I Cried Morrison's Beloved Dickinson's poetry O'Connor's A View of the Woods and A Good Man Is Hard to Find Allison's Bastard Out of Carolina McCullers' Ballad of the Sad Café and Hurston's Mules and Men are diverse in terms of artistic presentation all allude to or are set in the antebellum and Jim Crow South In addition all involve feminine characters whose subjectivity is shaped by the practice of seeing acts of violence inflicted where there can be no effective resistance While not proposing an equivalence between representing violence in visual images and written text Raymond does suggest that visual images of violence can be interpreted in context with written evocations of violent imagery Invoking sadism in its ethical sense of violence enacted on a victim for whom self defense and recourse of any kind are impossible Raymond's study is ultimately an exploration of the idea that a femininity constructed by the positioning of feminine characters as witnesses to sadistic acts is a phenomenon distinctly of the American South that is linked to the culture's history of racism

The Body in Flannery O'Connor's Fiction Donald E. Hardy, 2007 This is a reading of physical obsession in O

Connor through linguistic and literary techniques This work extends the innovative thesis that it is possible to grasp the central struggle between spirit and matter in O Connor through a close quantitative examination of the interactions of grammatical voice and physical bodies in her texts Bridging literary theory and linguistics Hardy demonstrates that the many constructions in which the body parts of O Connor s characters are foregrounded either as subjects or objects are grammatical manipulations of semantic variations on what linguists deem the middle voice roughly indicating that the subject is acting upon himself or herself Hardy combines computational and linguistic methodology to provide a productive approach to understanding O Connor s use of the body and its parts in her explorations of the sacramental and the grotesque Linguistic analysis of grammatical middle voice is coupled with quantitative analysis of body part words and the collocations in which they appear to present a new point of entrance to understanding O Connor s stylistic manipulations of the body as central to the rift between spirit and matter Through this method of reading O Connor Hardy makes a valuable contribution to the growing body of work that is introducing linguistic terminology and concepts into literary studies Return to Good and Evil Henry T. Edmondson, 2005-04-05 Return to Good and Evil Flannery O Connor s Response to Nihilism is a superb guide to the works of Flannery O Connor and like O Connor s stories themselves it is captivating provocative and unsettling Edmondson organizes O Connor s thought around her principal concern that with the nihilistic claim that God is dead the traditional signposts of good and evil have been lost Edmondson s book demonstrates that the combination of O Connor s artistic brilliance and philosophical genius provide the best response to the nihilistic despair of the modern world a return to good and evil through humility and grace The Last Things Regis Martin, 1998-01-01 While much of the world remains in neurotic flight from death from the Judgment that ineluctably follows it is vital to the vocation of the Christian that he face unflinching the Last Things including that eternity of joy or woe awaiting every man born into this world How will we face the end On whom does our hope finally rest What are the very Last Things ever to be remembered These and other breath catching questions are examined in this book whose pages abound with insight and imagery drawn from the rich patrimony of the Church s wisdom Here is a fresh compendium of the thought of saints and sages as disparate as Augustine Aquinas Dante Newman Hopkins Eliot Lewis James Joyce and Flannery O Connor who adorn the pages of this literary theological look at Death Judgment Heaven Hell Here then is a complete canvassing of the Last Things whose understanding remains fixed on Christ and his Church thus awakening that sense of hope on which we depend in our journey home to God

Psychoanalysis, Historiography, and Feminist Theory Katherine Kearns, 1997-10-16 In this book Katherine Kearns explores the relationship of history to narrative She combines psychoanalysis with recent feminist theory to reveal the hidden assumptions behind the construction of any historical narrative Her alternative approach one she labels psychohistoriography rejects the notion that certain historical categories are inalienably given By introducing insights derived from psychoanalysis and critical theory Kearns expands our conception of what can legitimately count as historical
