Why Americans Hate the Media and How It Matters Jonathan M. Ladd, 2011-12-05 As recently as the early 1970s the news media was one of the most respected institutions in the United States Yet by the 1990s this trust had all but evaporated Why has confidence in the press declined so dramatically over the past 40 years And has this change shaped the public s political behavior This book examines waning public trust in the institutional news media within the context of the American political system and looks at how this lack of confidence has altered the ways people acquire political information and form electoral preferences Jonathan Ladd argues that in the 1950s 60s and early 70s competition in American party politics and the media industry reached historic lows When competition later intensified in both of these realms the public s distrust of the institutional media grew leading the public to resist the mainstream press s information about policy outcomes and turn toward alternative partisan media outlets As a result public beliefs and voting behavior are now increasingly shaped by partisan predispositions Ladd contends that it is not realistic or desirable to suppress party and media competition to the levels of the mid twentieth century rather in the contemporary media environment new ways to augment the public s knowledgeability and responsiveness must be explored Drawing on historical evidence experiments and public opinion surveys this book shows that in a world of endless news sources citizens trust in institutional media is more important than ever before The Economics and Regulation of Financial Privacy Nicola Jentzsch,2006-09-29 This book provides the first in depth analysis of the topic offering an international comparison of credit reporting systems Coverage includes competition in information markets the microeconomics of information and privacy and economic incentives to disclose or to conceal information The book examines the history of credit reporting agencies and the regulation of privacy and credit reporting around the world Finally it surveys the effects of credit reporting in credit markets worldwide Statistical Thinking in Sports Jim Albert,Ruud H. Koning,2007-07-12 Since the first athletic events found a fan base sports and statistics have always maintained a tight and at times mythical relationship As a way to relay the telling of a game s drama and attest to the prodigious powers of the heroes involved those reporting on the games tallied up the numbers that they believe best described the action and bes Economic Evaluation in Clinical Trials Henry Glick,2007-02-15 The book provides a practical guide to conducting economic evaluation in ongoing clinical trials It covers issues and techniques related to the collection of both cost and outcome data as well as a framework for reporting and interpreting economic reports from clinical trials
