Increasing Sustainability, Resilience and Adaptation to Climate Change Leida Y. Mercado,Fernando Casanoves, Graciela Mónica Rusch,Mark Van Wijk,Jacques Avelino,2025-05-07 The Latin America and the Caribbean LAC region is highly vulnerable to extreme weather and climate events LAC food systems are easily disrupted by such events resulting in food insecurity increased vulnerability poverty aggravation and migration Additionally unsustainable food systems in the LAC are one of the main drivers of environmental degradation including water contamination and scarcity and biodiversity loss therefore compromising the delivery of ecosystem services ES that are critical to transforming these systems towards sustainability Toward the end of the 20th century climate pattern changes such as the increased frequency of extended dry spells have become common across the LAC region negatively impacting agricultural production economies and jeopardizing food security This has resulted in an increased number of people facing hunger across the region To face and adapt to these environmental changes it is necessary to promote food systems transformation This transformation will ensure that food systems become more diversified sustainable inclusive allowing access to nutritious and affordable food to everyone healthier promoting changes in consumption patterns and more resilient and adaptive to climate change This Research Topic aims to gather diverse and interdisciplinary views on current food systems in LAC by using a systematic approach to analyze the biodiversity and ecosystem services food production as well as the economic social cultural and political aspects that are key for the functioning of said systems We are particularly interested in proposals for solutions aimed at transforming LAC food systems to become better adapted to the changing climate more diversified sustainably intensified and profitable Nature based solutions to achieve the needed transformations are particularly welcome In addition this Research Topic looks to provide solid evidence to support decision making at various levels across the LAC region from small landholders and businesses to policymakers Dissertation Abstracts International ,2003 Journal of Economic Literature ,1985
