It examines how Mac Intyre balances traditional themes with experimentation, which in the Irish literary canon is unusual. This book argues that Mac Intyre's position in the Irish literary canon is an idiosyncratic one in that he combines two contrary aspects of Irish literature: between what Beckett terms as the Yeatsian antiquarians who valorize the Victorian Gael and the others whose aesthetic involves a European-influenced breakdown of the object, which is associated with Beckett. Mac Intyre's experimentation involves a breakdown of the object in order to uncover an unconscious Irish mythological and linguistic space in language. His approach to language experimentation is Yeatsian, and this is what the author terms as paleo postmodern. Thus, the project considers how Mac Intyre incorporates Yeatsian revivalism with postmodern deconstruction in his drama and short stories. Celtic, Christian, Socialist Audrey S. Eyler, 1993 Eyler shows how West describes the evolution of the human soul with its antipodal capacities for destruction and creation and charts its stages of development. Maturation of the soul is integrated with that of the body, and together they paradigmatically suggest for West the development of the culture and of the human race. Materialism, no intrinsically destructive thing to West.

nevertheless dominates and impedes modern thought and action feeds the insatiable Ego promotes violence and threatens true healthy Egoity essential human community and even the planet Eyler traces West s sources to demonstrate the syncretism and integrity of his approach The four novels West published during his lifetime The Native Moment Rebel to Judgment The Ferret Fancier and As Towns With Fire appeared independently of each other and stand firmly as separate works
