government organizations nonprofits and other major institutions In Rethinking Community Resilience Min Hee Go shows that these recovery efforts are not always the panacea they seem to be and can actually escalate the city's susceptibility to future environmental hazards Drawing upon interviews public records and more Go explores the hidden costs of community resilience She shows that despite good intentions recovery efforts after Hurricane Katrina exacerbated existing race and class inequalities putting disadvantaged communities at risk Ultimately Go shows that when governments nonprofits and communities invest in rebuilding rather than relocating they inadvertently lay the groundwork for a cycle of vulnerabilities As cities come to terms with climate change adaptation rather than prevention Rethinking Community Resilience provides insight into the challenges communities increasingly face in the twenty first century
