Congress. Senate, 1789 Unlearning Liberty Greg Lukianoff, 2014-03-11

For over a generation shocking cases of censorship at America's colleges and universities have taught students the wrong lessons about living in a free society. Drawing on a decade of experience battling for freedom of speech on campus, First Amendment lawyer Greg Lukianoff reveals how higher education fails to teach students to become critical thinkers by stifling open debate: our campuses are supercharging ideological divisions, promoting groupthink, and encouraging an unscholarly certainty about complex issues. Lukianoff walks readers through the life of a modern-day college student from orientation to the end of freshman year. Through this lens, he describes startling violations of free speech rights: a student in Indiana punished for publicly reading a book, a student in Georgia expelled for a pro-environment collage he posted on Facebook, students at Yale banned from putting an F. Scott Fitzgerald quote on a T-shirt, and students across the country corralled into tiny free speech zones when they wanted to express their views. But Lukianoff goes further, demonstrating how this culture of censorship is bleeding into the larger society. As he explores public controversies involving Juan Williams, Rush Limbaugh, Bill Maher, Richard Dawkins, Larry Summers, even Dave Barry and Jon Stewart, Lukianoff paints a stark picture of our ability as a nation to discuss important issues rationally. Unlearning Liberty: Campus Censorship and the End of American Debate illuminates how intolerance for dissent and debate on today's campus threatens the freedom of every citizen and makes us all just a little bit dumber. Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, Henry Pettus Randall, 1973

Handbook of Child Psychology and Developmental Science, Ecological Settings and Processes, 2015-03-31 The essential reference for human development theory, updated and reconceptualized. The Handbook of Child Psychology and Developmental Science, a four-volume reference, is the field-defining work to which all others are compared. First published in 1946 and now in its Seventh Edition, the Handbook has long been considered the definitive guide to the field of developmental science. Volume 4, Ecological Settings and Processes in Developmental Systems, is centrally concerned with the people, conditions, and events outside individuals that affect children and their development. To understand children's development, it is both necessary and desirable to embrace all of these social and physical contexts. Guided by the relational developmental systems metatheory, the chapters in the volume are ordered from near to distal contexts in which children find themselves and moving through to distal contexts that influence children in equally compelling, if less immediately manifest, ways. The volume emphasizes that the child's environment is complex, multi-dimensional, and structurally organized into interlinked contexts; children actively contribute to their development; the child and the environment are inextricably linked; and contributions of both child and environment are essential to explain or understand development. Understand the role of parents, other family members, peers, and other adults, teachers, coaches, mentors in a child's development. Discover the key neighborhood, community, and institutional settings of human development. Examine the role of activities, work, and media in child and adolescent development. Learn about the role of medicine, law, government, war, and disaster, culture, and history in contributing to the processes of human development. The scholarship within this volume and as well across the four volumes of this edition illustrate that developmental science is in the midst of a very exciting period There is a paradigm shift that involves increasingly greater understanding of how to describe explain and optimize the course of human life for diverse individuals living within diverse contexts This Handbook is the definitive reference for educators policy makers researchers students and practitioners in human development psychology sociology anthropology and neuroscience
