Medical Services, 1995 The role of incapacity benefit reassessment in helping claimants into employment Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Work and Pensions Committee, 2011-07-26 The Work and Pensions Committee supports the Government's objectives for the incapacity benefit IB reassessment which are to help people with disabilities and long term health conditions to move back into employment while continuing to provide adequate support for people who have limited capability for work or are unable to work However the report finds that the Government's positive messages about the IB reassessment are not getting through to the public The report argues that that the Government should be more proactive in explaining its aims for the process and in emphasising the range of support which will be available Current incapacity benefit claimants are being reassessed to decide whether they are able to work The inquiry looked in detail at the Work Capability Assessment WCA the test which is used to assess whether an incapacity benefit claimant is capable of work or work related activity WCAs are carried out by Atos Healthcare as part of a contract with the Department for Work and Pensions It is widely accepted that the WCA was flawed in the form in which it was introduced in 2008 for new ESA claimants leading to a high proportion of inaccurate assessments and poor decisions by Jobcentre Plus Many of these decisions were overturned at appeal The report acknowledges that many welcome improvements have been made to the reassessment process as a result of the review by Professor Malcolm Harrington and the trial of the process carried out in Aberdeen and Burnley before it was introduced nationally Incapacity Benefits and Pathways to Work Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Work and Pensions Committee, 2006-05-06 The Committee's report examines the Government's proposals for welfare reform set out in its Green Paper A new deal for welfare empowering people to work Cm 6730 ISBN 0101673027 published in January 2006 The proposed reforms are designed to help more ill or disabled people move into employment thereby reducing the number of people claiming incapacity benefits by one million within a decade Issues discussed include the future rollout of the Pathways to Work scheme the introduction of a new benefit called Employment and Support Allowance ESA to replace incapacity benefit from 2008 support for ill or disabled people to move back into work employer attitudes the involvement of healthcare professionals the role of the private and voluntary sectors the costs and resources for the reform programme The Committee welcomes the Government's aim to reform the welfare system in order to help support more ill or disabled people move back into work but argues that if its reform programme is to be successful it will need adequate resources particularly over the next few years and further detailed work in co operation with key stakeholders including employers and disability organisations Oxford Handbook of General Practice Chantal Simon, Hazel Everitt, Francoise van Dorp, 2010 This pack combines the seminal handbook of general

Dealing with the Complexity of the Benefits System Great Britain: National Audit Office,2005-11-18 The Department for Work and Pensions DWP and its agencies are responsible for administering around 40 social security benefits to the value of around 100 billion a year Many of these benefits are linked together hence some customers are in receipt of more than one benefit The need for equity and fairness in interpreting legislation is a cause of complexity Incentives e g to work and rewards e g for an individual s savings have been built into procedures Problems are caused by the interface between DWP benefits and tax credits which are administered by HM Revenue and Customs and by the constant flow of major and minor legislative and administrative changes Simplified procedures would enable both staff and customers to understand the system better and to avoid duplication of effort There would also be less scope for benefits fraud estimated at 2.6 billion in 2004/05 This NAO report also highlights the need for improved communication with customers and better use of new technology
