Family And Religious Studies A-Level (ZIMSEC) Past Exam Questions and Model Answers David Chitate, 2024-06-06 This book offers the ultimate collection of questions and model answers for ZIMSEC A Level exams Inside you ll find detailed syllabus review notes practice exercises and invaluable insights from examiners including tips and common mistakes to avoid With dedicated use of this resource success is assured making a Grade A highly attainable Ancient and Indigenous Wisdom Traditions in African and Euro-Asian Contexts Ehaab Abdou, Theodore Zervas, 2024-08-01 This book brings attention to the understudied and often overlooked question of how curricula and classroom practices might inadvertently reproduce exclusionary discourses and narratives that omit or negate particular cultures histories and wisdom traditions With a focus on representations and classroom practices related especially to ancient and Indigenous wisdom traditions and cultures it includes unique contributions from scholars studying these questions in various contexts The book offers a range of important studies from key African and Euro Asian contexts including Afghanistan Albania Greece Iran South Africa Sweden T rkiye and Zimbabwe The various chapter contributions address and discuss nuances of each of the contexts under study The contributions also help highlight some key commonalities across these contexts including how dominant discourses and various forces have historically shaped and continue to shape and reproduce such omissions misrepresentations and marginalization In addition to seeking to reconcile with some of these ancient and Indigenous wisdom traditions and cultures the book charts a path forward towards more holistic analytical frameworks as well as more inclusive and balanced representations and classroom practices in these aforementioned geographic contexts and beyond It will appeal to scholars researchers undergraduate and graduate students with interests in Indigenous education curriculum studies citizenship education history of education religion and educational policy Prophetic Figures of the Old Testament Nyamayabo Mashavakure, 2014-12-22 There is nothing particularly new or unique about the subject matter of Prophetic Figures of the Old Testament In fact greater authorities have covered it better many times before and this endeavour is hugely reliant upon and indebted to these great minds for this current work The hope is that readers can enjoy more of what they have already had from many different quarters presented through a different hand It is also the hope that beginning learners of divinity or biblical studies can find this book greatly enjoyable and inspiring In the main the prophetic figures represented in the wording of the book title certainly refer to persons called or identifiable as prophets in the Bible But this is also extended to include some objects occurrences and places that prophets may have encountered and even made use of in the performance of their prophetic duties The interplay of these and the prophet is generally taken to signify the comprehensiveness or completeness of prophecy in this book The reader is invited to interrogate the relationship of the prophet and this environment in order to enjoy more fully the religious historical political intellectual and inspirational aspects one goes through in respect of the issues selected and commented on The reader is encouraged to think beyond what one reads Any statement or comment is not meant to be some kind of definitive prescription but is meant to arouse thought and more thought More important readers should always be in constant contact with the origin of the materials spoken about in this book that is the Bible There is obviously no way in which selective consideration of items picked on a rather random personal subjective basis can replace the source from which these are originally taken Reading of Prophetic Figures of the Old Testament should therefore always depend on knowledge of or familiarity with the background information provided in the Bible

The Blue Touch Paper David Hare, 2015-08-28 When in 2000 the National Theatre published its poll of the hundred best plays of the 20th century David Hare had written five of them Yet he was born in 1947 into an anonymous suburban street in Hastings It is a world he believes to be as completely vanished as Victorian England Now in his first panoramic work of memoir ending as Margaret Thatcher comes to power in 1979 David Hare describes his childhood his Anglo Catholic education and his painful apprenticeship to the trade of dramatist He sets the progress of his own life against the history of a time in which faith in hierarchy deference religion the empire and finally politics all withered away Only belief in private virtue remains In his customarily dazzling prose and with great warmth and humour David Hare explores how so radical a shift could have occurred and how it is reflected in his own lifelong engagement with two disparate art forms film and theatre In The Blue Touch Paper David Hare describes a life of trial and error both how he became a writer and the high price he and those around him paid for that decision

Burning Money C. Fred Blake, 2011-09-30 For a thousand years across the length and breadth of China and beyond people have burned paper replicas of valuable things most often money for the spirits of deceased family members ancestors and myriads of demons and divinities Although frequently denigrated as wasteful and vulgar and at times prohibited by governing elites today this venerable custom is as popular as ever Burning Money explores the cultural logic of this common practice while addressing larger anthropological questions concerning the nature of value The heart of the work integrates Chinese and Western thought and analytics to develop a theoretical framework that the author calls a materialist aesthetics This includes consideration of how the burning of paper money meshes with other customs in China and around the world The work examines the custom in contemporary everyday life its origins in folklore and history as well as its role in common rituals in the social formations of dynastic and modern times and as a sacrifice in the act of consecrating the paper money before burning it Here the author suggests a great divide between the modern means of cultural reproduction through ideology and reification with its emphasis on nature and realism and previous pre capitalist means through ritual and mystification with its emphasis on authenticity The final chapters consider how the burning money custom has survived its encounter with the modern global system and internet technology Innovative and original in its interpretation of a common ritual in Chinese popular religion Burning Money will be welcomed by scholars and students of Chinese religion as well as comparative religion specialists and anthropologists interested in contemporary social theory
