

Unit 3: Framing the American Government (1783-1791)

1. Articles of Confederation:

- The first constitution of the United States, adopted in 1781.
- Weak central government with limited powers, leading to issues of governance and coordination among the states.

2. Shays' Rebellion:

- An armed uprising of farmers in Massachusetts in 1786-1787 against high taxes and debt.
- Highlighted the weaknesses of the Articles of Confederation in dealing with internal unrest and led to calls for a stronger central government.

3. Constitutional Convention:

- Meeting held in Philadelphia in 1787 to revise the Articles of Confederation.
- Resulted in the drafting of the United States Constitution, which created a stronger federal government.

4. Virginia Plan:

- Proposed by James Madison, it called for a bicameral legislature with representation based on population.
- Favored larger states and sought to create a strong national government.

5. New Jersey Plan:

- Proposed by William Paterson, it called for a unicameral legislature with equal representation for all states.
- Favored smaller states and aimed to preserve state sovereignty.

6. Great Compromise:

- Also known as the Connecticut Compromise, it combined elements of the Virginia and New Jersey Plans.
- Created a bicameral legislature with the House of Representatives based on population and the Senate with equal representation for each state.
