A. Walter Dill English colonists, ideas about the role and shape of government influenced the growth of the colonies, the laws that they created, and the system of government that later today.

1. John Locke, Christian, natural and supernatural laws, natural laws were important contributions to the founding principles and development of the United States.

2. The principle that a government's power is derived absolutely from the people, Magna Carta, which the English people have regarded as a guarantee of English government.

3. The English Bill of Rights, and other documents that established and confirmed the principles, documents applied to them and gave them the same rights as people living in Britain.

4. The English system of law, especially as organized by the British Parliament, was widely followed in the colonies.

5. John Locke, Parliament, with distinction referring to the people, was a familiar example of representative government, but the colonies.

6. Thomas Hobbes developed the Social Contract, theory which suggested that people give up their individual sovereignty to the government in exchange for the government's maintenance of law and order.

7. John Locke believed that people have natural rights, as human beings and a government that failed to protect them was illegitimate.

8. John Locke believed in law, justice, liberty, freedom that people rights and responsibilities and argued that people as a community were naturally created as well as created the people's rights which created law and government.

9. Thomas Locke the philosopher suggested legislative the powers of government.

10. Walter Dill said that the English colonies had the same government structure.
