Vocationalisation of Secondary Education Revisited Jon Lauglo,R. Maclean,2006-03-30 The book is a cutting edge contribution to the debate which has occurred for some time on the pros and cons of secondary education becoming more closely and explicitly related to preparing young people for the world of work The book provides concrete examples of the vocationalisation of secondary education with particular reference to the situation in Africa The target audience for the book includes policy makers practitioners administrators education planners researchers teachers and teacher educators with a concern about the relationship between secondary education and education for the world of work with particular reference to technical and vocational education and training TVET The book appears in the Springer book series on Technical and Vocational Education and Training Issues Concerns and Prospects and compliments the International Handbook of Technical and Vocational Education and Training and other publications in the International Library of TVET all of which are

publications of the UNESCO UNEVOC International Centre for TVET in Bonn Germany Education in Sierra Leone ,2007 After a decade long civil war Sierra Leone witnessed an unprecedented surge in school enrollments at the primary and then the secondary levels Committed to the Education for All objectives the government further encouraged greater access to school The country must now negotiate the transition from postwar recovery to regular delivery of education services The main tasks ahead include reaching the remaining out of school children and improving the quality of the learning environment and ultimately of learning outcomes Success will depend on the unrelenting strong commitment of the government the capacity of providers to effectively deliver education services and a sustainable financial framework

Directory of statisticians in Japan Tōkei Sūri Kenkyūjo (Japan),1957 Research in Education ,1995 The Education of Diverse Student Populations Guofang Wan,2008-06-19 This book takes up the challenge of examining the thorniest educational issue from a global perspective It contributes to the evidence based conversation among policy makers educators and researchers around the world about what works to improve the education outcomes and what can make a bigger difference for the education of diverse students The eleven countries included the United Kingdom Austria Canada the United States South Africa Ghana China Singapore Malaysia Australia and New Zealand are unique and yet overlap in the sense that they all face similar challenges of teaching diverse students The authors being education and cultural insiders discuss country specific policies efforts and best practices in the education of diverse students share stories of success and failure and explore current best practices from global social political and economic perspectives Built on previous theories and research it describes diverse students experiences in the global and information age and searches for effective policies and practices that help these students to perform better in school and in life Readers are forced to step outside of their own experiences and commonly held beliefs about education Conscious recognition that there are other ways of doing things may result in new approaches that we have not explored before We hope the insights lessons and conclusions drawn from examining this pressing education issue from a global perspective will help nations to better understand and deal with it in their own educational system Problems and Prospects of Sustaining Democracy in Nigeria Bamidele A. Ojo,2001 The past few years have been very traumatic ones for many Nigerians With the exception of those in power or close to the seat of power the changes of 1998 were a welcome relief given the tyranny and repression that the country had suffered under General Abacha With many people in prison and more in exile the death of Abacha was received with a sigh of relief Many observers have seen the resilience that has come to signify the strength and potential of this once giant of Africa as well as the destruction and the socio political and economic decay of the past decades The Nigerian people have endured the exploitation of their rights due to the lack of democratic leadership and with this in mind they have been called to attention to fight for their country
