Premodern Ecologies in the Modern Literary Imagination Vin Nardizzi, Tiffany Jo Werth, 2019-04-18

Premodern Ecologies in the Modern Literary Imagination explores how the cognitive and physical landscapes in which scholars conduct research write and teach have shaped their understandings of medieval and Renaissance English literary ecologies The collection strives to practice what Ursula K Heise calls eco cosmopolitanism a method that imagines forms of local environmentalism as a defense against the interventions of open market global networks It also expands the idea's possibilities and identifies its limitations through critical studies of premodern texts artefacts and environmental history The essays connect real environments and their imaginative recreations and affirm the urgency of reorienting humanity's responsiveness to and responsibility for the historical links between human and non human existence The discussion of ways in which meditation on scholarly place and time can deepen ecocritical work offers an innovative and engaging approach that will appeal to both ecocritics generally and to medieval and early modern scholars
