Women Writing the Neo-Victorian Novel Kathleen Renk, 2020-07-27 Women Writing the Neo Victorian Novel Erotic Victorians focuses on the work of British Irish and Commonwealth women writers such as A S Byatt Emma Donoghue Sarah Waters Helen Humphreys Margaret Atwood and Ahdaf Soueif among others and their attempts to re envision the erotic Kathleen Renk argues that women writers of the neo Victorian novel are far more philosophical in their approach to representing the erotic than male writers and draw more heavily on Victorian conventions that would proscribe the graphic depiction of sexual acts thus leaving more to the reader's imagination This book addresses the following questions Why are women writers drawn to the neo Victorian genre and what does this reveal about the state of contemporary feminism How do classical and contemporary forms of the erotic play into the ways in which women writers address the Victorian woman question How exactly is the erotic used to underscore women's creative potential

Conceptualizing Cruelty to Children in Nineteenth-Century England Monica Flegel, 2016-05-23 Moving nimbly between literary and historical texts Monica Flegel provides a much needed interpretive framework for understanding the specific formulation of child cruelty popularized by the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children NSPCC in the late nineteenth century Flegel considers a wide range of well known and more obscure texts from the mid eighteenth century to the early twentieth including philosophical writings by Locke and Rousseau poetry by Coleridge Blake and Caroline Norton works by journalists and reformers like Henry Mayhew and Mary Carpenter and novels by Frances Trollope Charles Dickens Wilkie Collins and Arthur Morrison Taking up crucial topics such as the linking of children with animals the figure of the child performer the relationship between commerce and child endangerment and the problem of juvenile delinquency Flegel examines the emergence of child abuse as a subject of legal and social concern in England and its connection to earlier primarily literary representations of endangered children With the emergence of the NSPCC and the new crime of cruelty to children new professions and genres such as child protection and social casework supplanted literary works as the authoritative voices in the definition of social ills and their cure Flegel argues that this development had material effects on the lives of children as well as profound implications for the role of class in representations of suffering and abused children Combining nuanced close readings of individual texts with persuasive interpretations of their influences and limitations Flegel's book makes a significant contribution to the history of childhood social welfare the family and Victorian philanthropy

Christina Rossetti and Illustration Lorraine Janzen Kooistra, 2002 Lorraine Janzen Kooistra's reading of Rossetti's illustrated works reveals for the first time the visual verbal aesthetic that was fundamental to Rossetti's poetics Her thorough archival research brings to light new information on how Rossetti's commitment to illustration and attitudes toward copyright and control influenced her transactions with publishers and the books they produced

The Christian Home in Victorian America, 1840--1900 Colleen McDannell, 1994-03-22 wonderfully imaginative and provocative in its

Spectacle of Deformity Nadja Durbach, 2009-10-13 In 1847 during the great age of the freak show the British periodical Punch bemoaned the public's prevailing taste for deformity This vividly detailed work argues that far from being purely exploitative displays of anomalous bodies served a deeper social purpose as they generated popular and scientific debates over the meanings attached to bodily difference Nadja Durbach examines freaks both well known and obscure including the Elephant Man Lalloo the Double Bodied Hindoo Boy a set of conjoined twins advertised as half male half female Krao a seven year old hairy Laotian girl who was marketed as Darwin's missing link the Last of the Mysterious Aztecs and African Cannibal Kings who were often merely Irishmen in blackface Upending our tendency to read late twentieth century conceptions of disability onto the bodies of freak show performers Durbach shows that these spectacles helped to articulate the cultural meanings invested in otherness and thus clarified what it meant to be British at a key moment in the making of modern and imperial ideologies and identities

Charles Dickens and the Victorian Child Amberyl Malkovich, 2013-02-11 This book explores the ideas of children and childhood and the construct of the ideal Victorian child that developed rapidly over the Victorian era along with literacy and reading material for the emerging mass reading public Children's Literature was one of the developing areas for publishers and readers alike yet this did not stop the reading public from bringing home works not expressly intended for children and reading to their family Within the idealized middle class family circle authors such as Charles Dickens were read and appreciated by members of all ages By examining some of Dickens's works that contain the imperfect child and placing them alongside works by Kingsley MacDonald Stretton Rossetti and Nesbit Malkovich considers the construction romanticization and socialization of the Victorian child within work read by and for children during the Victorian Era and early Edwardian period These authors use elements of religion death irony fairy worlds gender and class to illustrate the need for the ideal child and yet the impossibility of such a construct Malkovich contends that the imperfect child more readily reflects reality whereas the ideal child reflects an unattainable fantasy and while debates rage over how to define children's literature such children though somewhat changed can still be found in the most popular of literatures read by children contemporarily
