

Cannabis World Journals began with the vision of being the inspiration for our readers to break the paradigms of fear and misinformation about the industry that, unfortunately, still haunt us. After this first year of hard work, we validate that we have the primary task of going beyond our boundaries and comfort zone to continue to objectively and responsibly inform our audience about the "Divine Gifts" of the plant to tear the veil of ignorance from people's eyes once and for all. We must reach out to everyone to let them know that the plant has a voice that demands, "I am here to stay."

So, what do we say to those who want to censor us? - "Not today."

We are light at the end of the tunnel, we are the green-colored truth, we are inspiration and objectivity, we are much more than when we started, and we are the threshold of information.

We are Cannabis World Journals.

Monetary and Capital Markets Department, 2014-10-08 The October 2014 issue finds that six years after the start of the crisis the global economic recovery continues to rely heavily on accommodative monetary policies in advanced economies Monetary accommodation remains critical in supporting economies by encouraging economic risk taking in the form of increased real spending by households and greater willingness to invest and hire by businesses However prolonged monetary ease may also encourage excessive financial risk taking Analytical chapters examine 1 the growth of shadow banking around the globe assessing risks and discussing regulatory responses and calling for a more encompassing macroprudential approach to regulation and for enhanced data provision and 2 how conflicts of interest among bank managers shareholders and debt holders can lead to excessive bank risk taking from society's point of view finding no clear relation between bank risk and the level of executive compensation but that a better alignment of bankers pay with long term outcomes is associated with less risk 2014 International Conference on Social Science and Environment Protection (SSEP2014), 2014-02-11 This conference promises to be both informative and stimulating with a wonderful program Delegates will have a wide range of sessions to choose from and will have a difficult time choosing which session to attend The program consists of invited sessions technical workshop and discussions covering a wide range of topics in social science including communication culture economics education finance law management politics psychology and society This rich program provides all attendees with
