2015 Application South African Army

Garcia, Antonio

2015 Application South African Army:

South Africa's Post-Apartheid Military Lindy Heinecken, 2020-01-01 This timely book examines how the South African National Defence Force has adapted to the country's new security political and social environment since 1994. In South Africa's changed political state, how has civilian control of the military been implemented and what does this mean for defence in a democracy? This book presents an overview of the security environment, how the mission focus of the military has changed and the implications for force procurement, force preparation, force employment and force sustainability. The author addresses other issues such as the effect of integrating former revolutionary soldiers into a professional armed force, the effect of affirmative action on meritocracy, recruitment and retention, military veterans looking at the difficulties they face in reintegrating back into society and finding gainful employment, gender equality and mainstreaming the rise of military unions and why a confrontational instead of a more corporatist approach to labour relations has emerged. HIV/AIDS and the consequences this holds for the military in terms of its operational effectiveness. In closing, the author highlights key events that have caused the SANDF to become lost in transition and transformation, spelling out some lessons learned. The conclusions she draws are pertinent for the future of defence security and civil-military relations of countries around the world.

South Africa and United Nations Peacekeeping Offensive Operations Garcia, Antonio, 2018-08-16 The creation of the Force Intervention Brigade (FIB) as the sharp tactical edge of the United Nations Stabilisation Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (MONUSCO) tasked with the neutralising of armed groups was a watershed moment in the history of modern peace missions. What was more significant was that sub-Saharan national leaders were instrumental in the creation of the FIB. South Africa, Tanzania and Malawi but lacked the resources to deploy such a force and consequently the brigade was deployed under the banner of the UN. With the legacy of an African Renaissance and its role in the conception of the FIB, South Africa remains a critical player in international peace and security in sub-Saharan Africa and therefore holds a key strategic role in achieving the FIB's objectives. This comes at a critical time where blue helmets are increasingly exposed to complex and challenging security contexts. The aim of this work is to provide a conceptual model for South African military future operations and UN offensive peacekeeping operations. In this undertaking, a layer of military and Clausewitzian theory is added to offensive peacekeeping operations. Furthermore, there are sections on operational constructs, capstone and operating concepts, doctrine and structural elements as well as a section on mine action. This book contributes towards an understanding of the nature of modern strategy through the lens of UN offensive peacekeeping operations and provides insights into operational challenges.

Military Assistance on Request and the Use of Force Erika De Wet, 2020 This book examines the extent to which the proliferation of military assistance on request is changing the rules governing the use of force. The author explores the authority to make these requests, particularly during civil wars where some territorial control may be lost and there is a risk of systematic violations of international humanitarian law. Conference on Cyber Warfare and Security Dr. Louise Leenen, 2018-03-08 These proceedings represent the work of researchers participating in the 13th International Conference on Cyber Warfare and Security ICCWS 2018 which is being hosted this year by the National Defense University in Washington DC USA on 8-9 March 2018

Military Psychology for Africa Gideon AJ van Dyk, 2016-03-17 Military Psychology for Africa is the first textbook of its kind from Africa. Selected authors with competent military psychology knowledge, skills, expertise, and experience each contributed a chapter to this unique book. The book empowers academics, students, and military fellows to apply this knowledge at academic institutions and military units during operations and in presenting short courses. The book will also equip soldiers with new knowledge for advancing peace on the continent and abroad.

Shaping the Future of Power Lina Benabdallah, 2020-07-20 China's rise to power is one of the biggest questions in International Relations theory, IR, and foreign policy circles. Although power has been a core concept of IR for a long time, the faces and mechanisms of power as it relates to Chinese foreign policymaking have changed the contours of that debate. The rise of China and other powers across the global political arena sparks a new visibility for different kinds of encounters between states, particularly between China and other Global South states. These encounters are more visible to IR scholars because of the increasing influence that rising powers have in the international system. This book shows that foreign policy encounters between rising powers and Global South states do not necessarily exhibit the same logics, behaviors, or investment strategies of Euro-American hegemony. Instead, they have distinctive features that require new theoretical frameworks for analysis. Shaping the Future of Power probes the types of power mechanisms that build, diffuse, and project China's power in Africa. One must take into account the processes of knowledge production, social capital formation, and skills transfers that Chinese foreign policy directs toward African states to fully understand China's power-building mechanisms. The relational power framework requires these elements to capture both the material aspects and ideational, people-centered aspects of power. By examining China's investments in human resource development programs for Africa, the book reveals a vital yet undertheorized aspect of China's foreign policy making.

South Africa's High-Stress Security Environment Gerhard Schoeman, 2024-10-11 This book presents valuable insights into the realities faced by security personnel as they deal with life-threatening situations in a high-stress security environment. The causes and consequences of stress are explored, followed by a comprehensive discussion of coping strategies and the negative consequences of not being able to cope effectively. In this book, a scientifically tested, accessible model is also developed which provides a visual overview of the stress management process and captures the flow between stressors, personality, and coping strategies. South Africa's High-Stress Security Environment is a helpful guide for anyone who wants to gain a wider understanding and appreciation of the challenges and the courage of security personnel, which we often take for granted. Print edition not for sale in Sub-Saharan Africa.

Violent Borders Reece Jones, 2016-10-11 Forty thousand people died trying to cross international borders in the past decade, with the high-profile deaths along the shores of Europe only accounting for half of the grisly total Reece Jones argues that these deaths are not exceptional but rather the result of state attempts to contain populations and control access to resources and opportunities We may live in an era of globalization he writes but much of the world is increasingly focused on limiting the free movement of people In Violent Borders Jones crosses the migrant trails of the world documenting the billions of dollars spent on border security projects and their dire consequences for countless millions While the poor are restricted by the lottery of birth to slum dwellings in the aftershocks of decolonization the wealthy travel without constraint exploiting pools of cheap labor and lax environmental regulations With the growth of borders and resource enclosures the deaths of migrants in search of a better life are intimately connected to climate change environmental degradation and the growth of global wealth inequality

War of Intervention in Angola Adrien Fontanellaz, José Matos, Tom Cooper, 2020-11-23 War of Intervention in Angola Volume 3 covers the air warfare during the II Angolan War fought 1975-1992 through narrating the emergence and operational history of the Angolan Air Force and Air Defence Force FAPA DAA as told by Angolan and Cuban sources Most accounts of this conflict better known in the West as the Border War or the Bush War as named by its South African participants tend to find the operations by the FAPA DAA barely worth mentioning A handful of published histories mention two of its MiG 21s claimed as shot down by Dassault Mirage F 1 interceptors of the South African Air Force SAAF in 1981 and 1982 and at least something about the activities of its MiG 23 interceptors during the battles of the 1987-1988 period On the contrary the story told by Angolan and Cuban sources not only reveals an entirely different image of the air war over Angola of the 1980s indeed it reveals to what degree this conflict was dictated by the availability or the lack of air power and shows that precisely this issue dictated the way that the commanders of the Cuban contingents deployed to the country whether as advisors or as combat troops planned and conducted their operations It is thus little surprising that the first contingent of Cuban troops deployed to Angola during Operation Carlota in late 1975 included a sizeable group of pilots and ground personnel who subsequently helped build up the FAPA DAA from virtually nothing They continued that work over the following 14 years sometimes in cooperation of Soviet advisors and others from East European countries eventually establishing an air force that by 1988 maintained what South African military intelligence and the media subsequently described as the most advanced air defense system in Africa Not only the air defense system in question but also the aircraft serving as its extended arms ultimately managed a unique feat in contemporary military history they enabled an air force equipped with Soviet made aircraft and trained along the Soviet doctrine to establish at least a semblance of aerial superiority over an air force equipped with Western made aircraft and operating under a Western doctrine Based on extensive research with help of Angolan and Cuban sources the War of Intervention in Angola Volume 3 traces the military build up of the FAPA DAA in the period 1975-1992 its capabilities and its intentions Moreover it provides a unique blow by blow account of its combat operations and experiences The volume is illustrated with 100 rare photographs half a dozen maps and 15 color profiles thus providing a unique source of reference on this topic The Art of Coercion Reid B. C. Pauly, 2025-08-15 The Art of Coercion presents a fresh explanation for the success and failure of coercive demands in international politics Strong states are surprisingly bad at coercion History shows they prevail only a third of the time Reid B C Pauly argues that coercion often fails because targets fear punishment even if they comply In this damned if you do damned if you don't scenario targets have little reason to obey Pauly illustrates this logic in nuclear counterproliferation efforts with South Africa Iraq Libya and Iran He shows that coercers face an assurance dilemma When threats are more credible assurances not to punish are less so But without credible assurances targets may defy threats bracing for seemingly inevitable punishment For coercion to work as such coercers must not only make targets believe that they will be punished if they do not comply but also that they will not be if they do Packed with insights for any foreign policy challenge involving coercive strategies The Art of Coercion crucially corrects assumptions that tougher threats alone achieve results
