Alien Queen English Edition:

Subjects and Aliens Kate Bagnall, Peter Prince, 2023-08-29 Subjects and Aliens confronts the problematic history of belonging in Australia and New Zealand. In both countries race has often been more important than the law in determining who is considered one of us. Each chapter in the collection highlights the lived experiences of people who negotiated laws and policies relating to nationality and citizenship rights in twentieth century Australasia including Chinese Australians enlisting during the First World War, Dalmatian gum diggers turned farmers in New Zealand, Indians in 1920s Australia arguing for their citizenship rights, and Australian women who lost their nationality after marrying non-British subjects. The book also considers how the legal belonging and accompanying rights and protections of First Nations people have been denied despite the High Court of Australia's recent assertion in the landmark Love Thoms case of 2020 that Aboriginal people have never been considered aliens or foreigners since 1788. The experiences of world famous artist Albert Namatjira and of those made to apply for certificates of citizenship under Western Australian law suggest otherwise. Subjects and Aliens demonstrates how people who legally belonged were denied rights and protections as citizens through the actions of those who created, administered and interpreted the law across the twentieth century and how the legal ramifications of those actions can still be felt today.

Aliens - Uneingebürgerte Ian Wallace, 1994-12-31 Catalogue of the Lansdowne Manuscripts in the British Museum... Londres, 1819

Tacitus, Annals, 15.20-23, 33-45 Mathew Owen, Ingo Gildenhard, 2013-09-23 emperor Nero is etched into the Western imagination as one of ancient Rome's most infamous villains and Tacitus' Annals have played a central role in shaping the mainstream historiographical understanding of this flamboyant autocrat. This section of the text plunges us straight into the moral cesspool that Rome had apparently become in the later years of Nero's reign, chronicling the emperor's fledgling stage career including his plans for a grand tour of Greece, his participation in a city-wide orgy climaxing in his publicly consummated marriage to his toy boy Pythagoras, the great fire of AD 64 during which large parts of central Rome went up in flames, and the rising of Nero's grotesque new palace, the so-called Golden House, from the ashes of the city. This building project stoked the rumours that the emperor himself was behind the conflagration, and Tacitus goes on to present us with Nero's gruesome efforts to quell these mutterings by scapegoating and executing members of an unpopular new cult then starting to spread through the Roman empire: Christianity. All this contrasts starkly with four chapters focusing on one of Nero's most principled opponents, the Stoic senator Thrasea Paetus, an audacious figure of moral fibre who courageously refuses to bend to the forces of imperial corruption and hypocrisy. This course book offers a portion of the original Latin text, study aids with vocabulary and a commentary. Designed to stretch and stimulate readers, Owen's and Gildenhard's incisive commentary will be of particular interest to students of Latin at both A2 and undergraduate level. It extends beyond detailed linguistic analysis and historical background to encourage critical engagement with Tacitus' prose and discussion of the most recent scholarly thought.
