All Sorts Of Disability:

Disability John P. Hourihan, 1979 Disability in Different Cultures Brigitte Holzer, Arthur Vreede, Gabriele Weigt, 2015-09-15 How are disability and rehabilitation conceived of in different cultures How can these concepts be made accessible Studies from the fields of sociology ethnology and educational science address these questions whilst contributors from rehabilitation projects in development cooperation and from self help movements highlight culturally different perceptions of disability A distinctive feature of this reader is the dialogue it creates by bringing together scientific praxis and practical work Sex and Disability Robert McRuer, Anna Mollow, 2012-01-04 This collection brings together scholars and artists in disability studies sexuality queer theory and feminism to show how much sexuality studies and disability studies have to learn from each other Disability as Diversity in Higher Education Eunyoung Kim, Katherine C. Aquino, 2017-02-03 Addressing disability not as a form of student impairment as it is typically perceived at the postsecondary level but rather as an important dimension of student diversity and identity this book explores how disability can be more effectively incorporated into college environments Chapters propose new perspectives empirical research and case studies to provide the necessary foundation for understanding the role of disability within campus climate and integrating students with disabilities into academic and social settings Contextualizing disability through the lens of intersectionality Disability as Diversity in Higher Education illustrates how higher education institutions can use policies and practices to enhance inclusion and student success A History of Disability Henri-Jacques Stiker, 1999 The increasing numbers of scholars policy makers and political activists who are concerned with questions of physical and cognitive disability will warmly welcome Henri Jacques Stiker's book the first to attempt to provide a framework for analyzing disability through the ages Published in 1997 in France as Corps infirmes et sociétés and available now in an excellent English translation the book traces the history of western cultural responses to disability from ancient times to the present In this volume Stiker examines a fundamental issue in contemporary Western discourse on disability the cultural assumption that equality sameness similarity is always desired by those in society He highlights the consequences of such a mindset illustrating the intolerance of diversity and individualism that arises from placing such importance on equality Importantly Stiker does not hesitate to assert his own stance on the issues he discusses that difference is not only acceptable but that it is desirable that it is necessary The author goes beyond anecdotal history to traverse a little known history penetrating to the heart of collective attitudes and reflecting on elements of policy The sweep is broad from a rereading and reinterpretation of the Oedipus myth to current legislation regarding disability he proposes an analytical history that demonstrates how societies reveal themselves through their attitudes towards disability at times in unexpected ways since the study of detail is often the best entry into the whole of a culture The book will be of interest to scholars of disability historians social scientists cultural anthropologists and those who are intrigued by the role that culture plays in the development of language and thought surrounding the disabled

Henri Jacques Stiker is Director of Research and member of the department of the History and Civilization of Western Societies University of Paris VII

Disability and Christian Theology Embodied Limits and Constructive Possibilities

Deborah Beth Creamer, 2009-01-05 Attention to embodiment and the religious significance of bodies is one of the most significant shifts in contemporary theology In the midst of this however experiences of disability have received little attention This book explores possibilities for theological engagement with disability focusing on three primary alternatives challenging existing theological models to engage with the disabled body considering possibilities for a disability liberation theology and exploring new theological options based on an understanding of the unsurprisingness of human limits The overarching perspective of this book is that limits are an unavoidable aspect of being human a fact we often seem to forget or deny Yet not only do all humans experience limits most of us also experience limits that take the form of disability at some point in our lives in this way disability is more normal than non disability If we take such experiences seriously and refuse to reduce them to mere instances of suffering we discover insights that are lost when we take a perfect or generic body as our starting point for theological reflections While possible applications of this insight are vast this work focuses on two areas of particular interest theological anthropology and metaphors for God This project challenges theology to consider the undeniable diversity of human embodiment It also enriches previous disability work by providing an alternative to the dominant medical and minority models both of which fail to acknowledge the full diversity of disability experiences Most notably this project offers new images and possibilities for theological construction that attend appropriately and creatively to diversity in human embodiment

Opportunity Monographs, Vocational Rehabilitation Series, 1918 Philosophical Reflections on Disability

D. Christopher Ralston, Justin Ho, 2009-09-19 This project draws together the diverse strands of the debate regarding disability in a way never before combined in a single volume After providing a representative sampling of competing philosophical approaches to the conceptualization of disability as such the volume goes on to address such themes as the complex interplay between disability and quality of life questions of social justice as it relates to disability and the personal dimensions of the disability experience By explicitly locating the discussion of various applied ethical questions within the broader theoretical context of how disability is best conceptualized the volume seeks to bridge the gap between abstract philosophical musings about the nature of disease illness and disability found in much of the philosophy of medicine literature on the one hand and the comparatively concrete but less philosophical discourse frequently encountered in much of the disability studies literature It also critically examines various claims advanced by disability advocates as well as those of their critics In bringing together leading scholars in the fields of moral theory bioethics and disability studies this volume makes a unique contribution to the scholarly literature while also offering a valuable resource to instructors and students interested in a text that critically examines and assesses various approaches to some of the most vexing problems in contemporary social and political philosophy

New Dynamics of Disability and Rehabilitation Ivan Harsløf, Ingrid

Poulsen, Kristian Larsen, 2019-07-14 This collection provides a broad coverage of recent changes in medical and vocational rehabilitation in Northern Europe. It presents analyses that cut across health sciences, medical sociology, disability studies, and comparative welfare state research. Through this interdisciplinary perspective, the book explores the changing roles of patients, caregivers, professionals, and institutions, and the wider implications of these changes for social inequalities in health. What obstacles do different groups of patients encounter when negotiating the complex chains of medical and vocational services? Who decides regarding references to specialized treatments and the provision of comprehensive and coordinated services and different types of benefits and material support? What is the importance of the resources that patients and caregivers bring to bear in the rehabilitation process? Monograph, Vocational Rehabilitation Series, 1918 Hearing on the Reauthorization of the Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA) United States. Congress. House. Committee on Education and Labor. Subcommittee on Select Education and Civil Rights, 1994 This transcript of a Congressional House hearing on the reauthorization of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act focuses on the role of parents of 5 million schoolchildren with disabilities and ways to strengthen their involvement in their children's education. The transcript includes presented and/or prepared statements from Cass Ballenger, Representative from North Carolina; Major R. Owens, Representative from New York; Dee Spinkston, Federal for Children with Special Needs; a number of parents of children with disabilities; and representatives of such organizations as the ACTION coalition, the New York Institute for Special Education, and the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill. DB Disability Politics Jane Campbell, Mike Oliver, 2013-01-11 This powerful book presents a series of perspectives on the process of self-organisation of disabled people which has taken place over the last thirty years. The 1980s saw a transformation in our understanding of the nature of disability and consequently the kinds of policies and services necessary to ensure the full economic and social integration of disabled people. At the heart of this transformation has been the rise in the number of organisations controlled and run by disabled people themselves. Through a series of interviews with disabled people who have been centrally involved in the rise of the disability movement, the authors present a new collective history which throws light on the politics of the 1980s and offers insights into future political developments in the 1990s and on into the twenty-first century. This Kind of Child: The 'Disability' Story K. Srilata, 2022-12-20 About the Book A SENSITIVE AND EYE-OPENING ACCOUNT OF THE LIVES OF PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES AND THOSE AROUND THEM I am the mother of a child who did not fit the school system; a child who was disabled by it. She was a child who made errors, mistakes that the school system was unforgiving of. We were told by the principal of an alternative school that they could not possibly admit this kind of child. My daughter went from being a child to this kind of child in that one moment. When she started working on the book, it was Srilata's daughter who was its protagonist. But soon she realised that there was no way she could stop with her daughter's story. With each step ahead or back, she became acutely aware of the larger story of the things we frame as disability. I have learnt that disability is profoundly political that it is heartbreakingly social In This Kind of Child Srilata brings together first person accounts interviews and short fiction which open up for us the experiential worlds of persons with disabilities and those who love them The book offers a multi perspectival understanding of the disability experience its emotional as well as imagined truth both to the disabled themselves as well as to those closely associated with them I have learnt that stories are always bigger than they seem at first bigger wider and deeper At the heart of this book is inter being and the question What does it mean to love and accept yourself or someone else fully

Disabled USA. ,1987 Sport and the Female Disabled Body Elisabet Apelmo,2016-10-04 This path breaking book analyses the experiences of young sporting women with physical impairments Taking phenomenology as a point of departure Elisabet Apelmo explores how the young women handle living with a body which on the one hand is viewed as deviant the disabled body and on the other hand is viewed as accomplished the sporting body A polarization is apparent between the weak which is manifested through the expression of belonging as we and the strong individual The subject position as strong positive and capable as a reaction towards the weak the negative is one of the few positions that are available to them Furthermore the book demonstrates the strategies of resistance the young women develop against the marginalisation stereotyping and othering they experience in their everyday lives Finally the author discusses the paradox of gender Disabled bodies are often seen as non gendered however these young women s experiences are structured by both the gender regimes within sports and the larger gender order of the society

Reading and Writing Disability Differently Tanya Titchkosky,2007-05-05 Mixing rigorous social theory with concrete analysis Reading and Writing Disability Differently unpacks the marginality of disabled people by addressing how the meaning of our bodily existence is configured in everyday literate society Tanya Titchkosky begins by illustrating how news media and policy texts reveal dominant Western ways of constituting the meaning of people and the meaning of problems as they relate to our understandings of the embodied self Her goal is to configure disability as something more than a problem and beyond simply a positive or a negative and to treat texts on disability as potential sites to examine neo liberal culture Titchkosky holds that through an exploration of the potential behind limited representations of disability we can relate to disability as a meaningful form of resistance to the restricted normative order of contemporary embodiment Incorporating a textual analysis of ordinary depictions of disability this innovative study promises to represent embodied differences in new ways and alter our imaginative relations to the politics of the body

Learning Disability Nursing Practice Mark Jukes,2014-10-22 This text encapsulates not only the origins of nursing in the learning disability field but also contemporary perspectives and areas for specialist nursing practice The book is divided into four sections origins perspectives practice and further perspectives Section one origins describes Great Barr Colony and explores the conceptions of practice of actual attendants and nurses who worked there It gives readers an in depth focus on aspects of work and practice not accounted for in the literature to date Section two perspectives explores social policy perspectives from the past eras of the workhouse the colony and the hospital through to the present age of citizenship Research in learning disability nursing practice is identified through scoping exercises to identify its current status The section questions the research and practice developments that have come of age and that constitute a challenge within an evidence based health and social care world Section three practice identifies a wide range of specialist areas of nursing practice including community learning disability nursing epilepsy forensics health facilitation autism mental health challenging behaviour children's services and working with people with profound and multiple learning disabilities Section four further perspectives addresses areas of contemporary and future concern namely educational curricula for nurses and the importance of inter professional education and practice development

Intellectual and Learning Disabilities, 2024-03-20 Equality relies on inclusiveness This is especially true in education This book raises awareness of inclusiveness in learning and teaching environments It discusses ways to achieve inclusiveness in education for those with intellectual and learning disabilities The chapters examine inclusive learning and teaching strategies and approaches as well as the roles of teachers in creating inclusive educational environments Programs for the Handicapped, Disability, Literature, Genre Ria Cheyne, 2019 This title brings cultural disability studies and genre fiction studies into dialogue for the first time Analysing representations of disability in contemporary science fiction romance fantasy horror and crime fiction it offers new and transformative insights into both the workings of genre and the affective power of disability
