

The background of the slide features a blurred image of the Parliament Hill in Ottawa, Canada. In the foreground, on the left side, a portion of the Canadian flag is visible, showing the red maple leaf and the white and red stripes. A semi-transparent white rounded rectangle is centered over the image, containing the title text in a bold, blue, sans-serif font.

Federal Disability Report Canada:

About Canada: Disability Rights, 2nd ed. Deborah Stienstra, 2020-08-26T00:00:00Z Including people with disabilities fully into Canadian society with the rights enjoyed by non disabled people requires a fundamental social transformation not simply fixing some bodies It requires deep changes in the attitudes cultural images and policies that make people with disabilities invisible set them aside undermine or reject their contributions and value and justifies their neglect abuse and death This shift involves the simple recognition and honouring of the dignity autonomy and rights of all people including those who experience disabilities In the second edition of About Canada Disability Rights Deborah Stienstra explores the historical and current experiences of people with disabilities in Canada as well as the policy and advocacy responses to these experiences Stienstra demonstrates that disability rights enable people with disabilities to make decisions about their lives and future claim rights on their own behalf and participate actively in all areas of Canadian society Disability rights can and does increase access to and inclusion in critical areas like education employment transportation telecommunications and health care Additionally Stienstra identifies new approaches and practices such as universal design disability supports and income supports that can transform Canadian society to be more inclusive and accommodating for everyone This project is funded in part by the Government of Canada

Federalism, Democracy and Disability Policy in Canada Alan H. Puttee, Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). Institute of Intergovernmental Relations, 2002 The 1999 signing of the Social Union Framework Agreement the elimination of government deficits and an apparent trend to decentralisation have increased the focus on Canada's social policy and the manner of its formulation While disability policy a key element of social policy that is seldom high on the country's policy agenda is sharing in the renewed interest no significant disability policy changes have yet emerged The Social Union and Disability Policy examines the development of Canadian disability policy and the current political landscape that will influence new policy It offers an agenda for reform of the disability insurance system and for the provision of supports and services for people with disabilities The focus is on the impact of governance structures those now in place and those that might be expected to yield improved policy outcomes while promoting the principles of federalism and democratic oversight Contributors to the volume are academics Michael Prince University of Victoria Roy Hanes Carleton University and Allan Moscovitch Carleton University NGO representative Michael Bach Roeher Institute and social policy analysts Marcia Rioux York University and Alan Puttee

Federal Disability Report, 2010 Human Rights Gordon DiGiacomo, 2016-02-10 Written largely by Canadian scholars for Canadian students Human Rights Current Issues and Controversies is an overview of contemporary human rights concerns that aims to introduce readers to the human rights instruments provincial national and international that protect Canadians The volume begins with an overview of the history of human rights before moving on to discuss such important topics as the relationship between political institutions and rights protection rights issues pertaining to specific communities and cross cutting rights issues that affect most or all citizens Contemporary and comprehensive Human Rights Current Issues and Controversies is a valuable resource for undergraduate and graduate students studying human rights Active Citizenship and Disability Andrew Power, Janet Lord, Allison DeFranco, 2013-01-14 This book provides an international comparative study of the implementation of disability rights law and policy focused on the emerging principles of self determination and personalisation It explores how these principles have been enshrined in the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities and how different jurisdictions have implemented them to enable meaningful engagement and participation by persons with disabilities in society The philosophy of active citizenship underpinning the Convention that all citizens should be able to actively participate in the community provides the core focal point of this book which grounds its analysis in exploring how this goal has been imagined and implemented across a range of countries The case studies examine how different jurisdictions have reformed disability law and policy and reconfigured how support is administered and funded to ensure maximum choice and independence is accorded to people with disabilities Canadian Social Policy Anne Westhues, Brian Wharf, 2012-05-25 Social policy shapes the daily lives of every Canadian citizen and should reflect the beliefs of a majority of Canadians on just approaches to the promotion of health safety and well being Too often those on the front lines social workers nurses and teachers observe that policies do not work well for the most vulnerable groups in society In the first part of this new edition of Canadian Social Policy Westhues and Wharf argue that service deliverers have discretion in how policies are implemented and the exercise of this discretion is how citizens experience policy whether or not it is fair and reasonable They show the reader how social policy is made and they encourage active citizenship to produce policies that are more socially just New material includes an examination of the reproduction of systemic racism through the implementation of human rights policy and a comparative analysis of the policy making process in Quebec and English Canada The second part of the book discusses policy issues currently under debate in Canada Included are new chapters that explore parental leave policies and housing as a determinant of health All chapters contain newly updated statistical data and research and policy analysis A reworked section on the process of policy making and the addition of questions for critical reflection enhance the suitability of the book as a core resource in social policy courses The final chapter explores how front line workers in the human services can advocate for change in organizational policies that will benefit the people supported Adapted Physical Activity Robert D. Steadward, E. Jane Watkinson, Garry D. Wheeler, 2003-08 This comprehensive textbook examines adapted physical activity from across the disciplinary spectrum From the history of adapted physical education to current practices in rehabilitative medicine from working with children with emotional disabilities to developing care plans for adults with movement limitations this collection surveys issues and helps practitioners plan sensible well grounded programs Midwest
