All Summer On A Date A Novella:

Anne: A Novel Constance Fenimore Woolson, 1960-01-01 Anne standing straight again surveyed the garland in silence Then she changed its position once or twice studying the effect Her figure poised on the round of the ladder high in the air was although unsupported firm With her arms raised above her head in a position which few women could have endured for more than a moment she appeared as unconcerned and strong and sure of her footing as though she had been standing on the floor There was vigor about her and elasticity combined unexpectedly with the soft curves and dimples of a child Viewed from the floor this was a young Diana or a Greek maiden as we imagine Greek maidens to have been The rounded arms visible through the close sleeves of the dark woollen dress the finely moulded wrists below the heavy wreath the lithe natural waist all belonged to a young goddess But when Anne Douglas came down from her height and turned toward you the idea vanished Here was no goddess no Greek only an American girl with a skin like a peach Anne Douglas s eyes were violet blue wide open and frank She had not yet learned that there was any reason why she should not look at everything with the calm directness of childhood Equally like a child was the unconsciousness of her mouth but the full lips were exquisitely curved Her brown hair was braided in a heavy knot at the back of her head but little rings and roughened curly ends stood up round her forehead and on her temples as though defying restraint This unwritten face with its direct gaze so far neutralized the effect of the Diana like form that the girl missed beauty on both sides The usual ideal of pretty slender unformed maidenhood was not realized and yet Anne Douglas s face was more like what is called a baby face than that of any other girl on the island The adjective generally applied to her was big This big soft cheeked girl now stood irresolutely looking at the condemned wreath The sun was setting and poured a flood of clear yellow light through the little west windows the man at the organ was playing a sober steadfast German choral without exultation yet full of a resolute purpose which defied even death and the grave Out through the eastern windows stretched the frozen straits the snow covered islands and below rang out the bugle It will be dark in a few moments said Anne to herself I will do it She moved the ladder across to the chancel mounted to its top again and placed the wreath directly over the altar connecting it deftly with the numerous long lines of delicate wreathing woven in thread like green lace work which hung there waiting for their key stone a place of honor which the condemned wreath was to fill It now crowned the whole The little house of God was but an upper chamber roughly finished and barren its only treasure was a small organ a gift from a father whose daughter a stranger from the South had died upon the island requesting that her memorial might be music rather than a cold stone William Douglas had superintended the unpacking and placing of this gift and loved it almost as though it had been his own child Indeed it was a child a musical child one who comprehended his varying moods when no one else did not even Anne

A Summer at Brighton. A modern novel. By Mary Julia Young ,1808 The White Morning: A Novel of the Power of the German Women in Wartime Gertrude Franklin Horn Atherton,2017-10-24 The book opens with what promises to be a valuable addition to the war literature designed to depict the German character Its value for the reader has a priori attestation from the knowledge that Gertrude Atherton had more or less seven years of more or less continuous residence in Germany The suppressed individuality of German womanhood and the blustering dominance of junker masculinity are given a forceful portrayal The Preparation of the Novel Roland Barthes,2011 Completed just weeks before his death the lectures in this volume mark a critical juncture in the career of Roland Barthes in which he declared the intention deeply felt to write a novel Unfolding over the course of two years Barthes engaged in a unique pedagogical experiment he combined teaching and writing to simulate the trial of novel writing exploring every step of the creative process along the way Barthes s lectures move from the desire to write to the actual decision making planning and material act of producing a novel He meets the difficulty of transitioning from short concise notations exemplified by his favorite literary form haiku to longer uninterrupted flows of narrative and he encounters a number of setbacks Barthes takes solace in a diverse group of writers including Dante whose La Vita Nuova was similarly inspired by the death of a loved one and he turns to classical philosophy Taoism and the works of Francois Ren Chateaubriand Gustave Flaubert Franz Kafka and Marcel Proust This book uniquely includes eight elliptical plans for Barthes s unwritten novel which he titled Vita Nova and lecture notes that sketch the critic s views on photography Following on The Neutral Lecture Course at the Coll ge de France 1977 1978 and a third forthcoming collection of Barthes lectures this volume provides an intensely personal account of the labor and love of writing
