Survival October-November 2021: The Limits of Power The International Institute for Strategic Studies (IISS), 2023-04-21 Survival the IISS s bimonthly journal challenges conventional wisdom and brings fresh often controversial perspectives on strategic issues of the moment In this issue Anatol Lieven argues that realist support for prudence and restraint in foreign policy does not equate to chauvinism isolationism and opposition to international cooperation Toby Dodge assesses that the United States attempt to comprehensively transform Afghanistan was based on its erroneous presumption that the liberal peacebuilding model was universally applicable Audrey Kurth Cronin contends that the logic of fighting terrorists far from the US homeland no longer holds as the US faces resource constraints and rising domestic terrorism Jens Ringsmose and Sten Rynning analyse the potential priorities and scope of NATO s next Strategic Concept and how it can bridge the Alliance s political military divide And eight more thought provoking pieces as well as our regular Book Reviews and Noteworthy column Editor Dr Dana Allin Managing Editor Jonathan Stevenson Associate Editor Carolyn West Assistant Editor Jessica Watson

Strategic Reassurance and Resolve James Steinberg, Michael E. O'Hanlon, 2015-08-25 How the United States and China can avoid future conflict and establish stable cooperative relations After forty years of largely cooperative Sino U S relations policymakers politicians and pundits on both sides of the Pacific see growing tensions between the United States and China Some go so far as to predict a future of conflict driven by the inevitable rivalry between an established and a rising power and urge their leaders to prepare now for a future showdown Others argue that the deep economic interdependence between the two countries and the many areas of shared interests will lead to more collaborative relations in the coming decades In this book James Steinberg and Michael O Hanlon stake out a third less deterministic position They argue that there are powerful domestic and international factors especially in the military and security realms that could well push the bilateral relationship toward an arms race and confrontation even though both sides will be far worse off if such a future comes to pass They contend that this pessimistic scenario can be confidently avoided only if China and the United States adopt deliberate policies designed to address the security dilemma that besets the relationship between a rising and an established power The authors propose a set of policy proposals to achieve a sustainable relatively cooperative relationship between the two nations based on the concept of providing mutual strategic reassurance in such key areas as nuclear weapons and missile defense space and cyber operations and military basing and deployments while also demonstrating strategic resolve to protect vital national interests including in the case of the United States its commitments to regional allies

Survival October-November 2020: Pandemics and politics The International Institute for Strategic Studies (IISS), 2023-04-21 Survival the IISS's bimonthly journal challenges conventional wisdom and brings fresh often controversial perspectives on strategic issues of the moment In this issue Adam Roberts explores pandemics and politics through the ages arguing that trust in leadership is essential in the struggle against infectious diseases Rebecca Barber and Sarah Teitt contend that ASEAN should take a more activist approach to the Rohingya crisis to salvage its credibility Greg Austin assesses the strategic implications of China's weak cyber defences ystein Tunsj casts doubt on the prospect of the Arctic becoming a theatre of great power conflict And eight more thought provoking pieces as well as our regular book reviews and Noteworthy column
