Ford Five Hundred Anti Theft Reset:

Analog Superpowers Katherine C. Epstein, 2024-10-01 A gripping history that spans law international affairs and top secret technology to unmask the tension between intellectual property rights and national security At the beginning of the twentieth century two British inventors Arthur Pollen and Harold Isherwood became fascinated by a major military question how to aim the big guns of battleships These warships of enormous geopolitical import before the advent of intercontinental missiles or drones had to shoot in poor light and choppy seas at distant moving targets conditions that impeded accurate gunfire Seeing the need to account for a plethora of variables Pollen and Isherwood built an integrated system for gathering data calculating predictions and transmitting the results to the gunners At the heart of their invention was the most advanced analog computer of the day a technological breakthrough that anticipated the famous Norden bombsight of World War II the inertial guidance systems of nuclear missiles and the networked smart systems that dominate combat today Recognizing the value of Pollen and Isherwood s invention the British Royal Navy and the United States Navy pirated it one after the other When the inventors sued both the British and US governments invoked secrecy citing national security concerns Drawing on a wealth of archival evidence Analog Superpowers analyzes these and related legal battles over naval technology exploring how national defense tested the two countries commitment to individual rights and the free market Katherine C Epstein deftly sets out Pollen s and Isherwood s pioneering achievements the patent questions raised the geopolitical rivalry between Britain and the United States and the legal precedents each country developed to control military tools built by private contractors Epstein s account reveals that long before the US national security state sought to restrict information about atomic energy it was already embroiled in another contest between innovation and secrecy The America portrayed in this sweeping and accessible history isn t yet a global hegemon but a rising superpower ready to acquire foreign technology by fair means or foul much as it accuses China of doing today Congressional Record United States.
