2006 SCORING GUIDELINES

Question 3

(a) Assume that the city council chooses the first option. Describe TWO problems that result from removing the contaminated soil from the brownfield.

(2 points possible)

One point is earned for describing each problem associated with removal of the contaminated soil.

ACCEPTABLE PROBLEMS

- High cost of removing/cleaning/replacing large amounts of soil
- Need to find a place to dispose of contaminated soil—may only move the problem from one site to another
- Erosion at the site
- Ecological disturbance of the area
- Risks from transporting contaminated soil
- Exposure of workers or residents to contaminants (airborne)
- Groundwater contamination remains a problem

(b) Assume that the city council chooses the second option. Explain how vegetation could be used to decontaminate the soil. Discuss one advantage and one disadvantage of using this reclamation method.

(3 points possible)

One point is earned for explaining how vegetation can be used for soil decontamination. 1 point is earned for one advantage of using plants to decontaminate the soil, and 1 point is earned for one disadvantage of using plants to decontaminate the soil.

CORRECT VEGETATION USAGE

When vegetation is planted on a brownfield, the plants take up the contaminants (along with water and nutrients) from the soil.

Advantages of Using Plants	Disadvantages of Using Plants
• Low cost. • Reduces soil erosion. • Reduces the amount of material that has to be taken to a landfill. • Less habitat disruption (not removing the soil). • Aesthetically pleasing.	• Process may be slow. • Vegetation may become hazardous to insects or animals that feed on it. • When the vegetation is removed, it is still hazardous. • May not remove all of the contaminants /effective only to the depth that the roots reach. • May introduce exotic species. • Appropriate plant species may be difficult to grow on the site. • Volatilized compounds may be emitted through plant pores.
