HUMAN ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY

Study of the human organism and its internal body

Anatomy

The study of the structure and organization of the human body

Physiology

The study of the function and processes of the human body

Structural levels

Studying the human body at the different levels of structure and function

- 1. Chemical level - study of the chemical composition of the body
- 2. Cellular level - study of the structure and function of cells
- 3. Tissue level - study of the structure and function of tissues
- 4. Organ level - study of the structure and function of organs
- 5. System level - study of the structure and function of body systems
- 6. Organism level - study of the structure and function of the whole body

CELLS AND TISSUES

Cells are the basic units of structure and function of the human body

Characteristics of cells

All cells are eukaryotic and have a nucleus

Cells are specialized for their function

Cells are surrounded by a cell membrane

Cells are connected to each other

Cells are constantly changing

The tissue is the group of cells that work together to perform a specific function

Types of cells

Epithelial cells - cover the body and line internal organs

Connective tissue - support and connect other cells

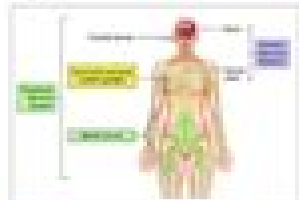

Muscle cells - contract and move the body

Nerve cells - transmit information

NERVOUS SYSTEM

Functions

- 1. Sensory - receive information from the environment
- 2. Integrative - process information and make decisions
- 3. Motor - respond to information and control the body

Structure

The nervous system is composed of the brain and the spinal cord

The brain is the control center of the body

The spinal cord is the communication pathway between the brain and the rest of the body

Nerves are bundles of axons that carry information

Neurons are the basic units of the nervous system

UNIT OF MEASUREMENT

The unit of measurement for length is the meter

Types of neurons

Sensory neurons - carry information from the body to the brain

Motor neurons - carry information from the brain to the body

Interneurons - carry information between sensory and motor neurons

Glial cells - support and protect neurons

Neurotransmitters - chemical messengers that carry information

Receptors - detect information from the environment

Effectors - respond to information from the brain

Feedback loops - regulate the body's internal environment

Homeostasis - the body's ability to maintain a stable internal environment

Adaptation - the body's ability to change in response to the environment

Evolution - the process of change in the characteristics of a population over time

Genetics - the study of the inheritance of traits

Development - the process of growth and differentiation

Regulation - the process of controlling the body's internal environment

ORGAN SYSTEMS OF THE BODY

The body is composed of several organ systems that work together to maintain life

The digestive system is responsible for breaking down food and absorbing nutrients

The respiratory system is responsible for taking in oxygen and removing carbon dioxide

The circulatory system is responsible for transporting blood throughout the body

The excretory system is responsible for removing waste from the body

The reproductive system is responsible for producing offspring

The immune system is responsible for defending the body against disease

The endocrine system is responsible for regulating the body's internal environment

The nervous system is responsible for controlling the body's actions

The muscular system is responsible for moving the body

The skeletal system is responsible for supporting the body

The integumentary system is responsible for protecting the body

The lymphatic system is responsible for fighting infection

The urinary system is responsible for filtering blood

The reproductive system is responsible for producing offspring

The endocrine system is responsible for regulating the body's internal environment

The nervous system is responsible for controlling the body's actions

The muscular system is responsible for moving the body

The skeletal system is responsible for supporting the body

The integumentary system is responsible for protecting the body

The lymphatic system is responsible for fighting infection

The urinary system is responsible for filtering blood

ENDOCRINE SYSTEM

- 1. Hormones - chemical messengers that regulate the body's internal environment
- 2. Pituitary gland - the master gland that controls the other glands
- 3. Thyroid gland - regulates metabolism
- 4. Adrenal gland - produces adrenaline and cortisol
- 5. Pancreas - produces insulin and glucagon
- 6. Gonads - produce sex hormones
- 7. Hypothalamus - controls the pituitary gland
- 8. Pineal gland - produces melatonin
- 9. Parathyroid glands - regulate calcium levels
- 10. Thymus gland - produces thymosin

Functions of the endocrine system

Regulate metabolism

Control growth and development

Maintain blood sugar levels

Regulate blood pressure

Control the immune system

Regulate the reproductive system

Control the circadian rhythm

Regulate the body's internal environment

Control the body's temperature

Regulate the body's fluid balance

Control the body's pH balance

Regulate the body's electrolyte balance

Control the body's energy balance

Regulate the body's nutrient balance

Control the body's waste balance

Regulate the body's oxygen balance

Control the body's carbon dioxide balance
