American Anthology Guide Instructor Literature Norton Teaching:

Teaching with the Norton Anthology of American Literature Marjorie Pryse, 1994 American Literature Bruce Michelson, Marjorie Pryse, 1998-05-01 Teaching with the Norton Anthology of American Literature, 6th Ed Bruce Michelson, Marjorie Pryse, 2003 Teaching with the Norton Anthology of World Literature, 2012 Teaching with the Norton Anthology of English Literature Alfred David, 1993 Engaging Tradition, Making It New Stephanie Brown, Éva Tettenborn, 2020-12-15

Engaging Tradition Making It New offers a rich collection of fresh scholarly and pedagogical approaches to new African American literature. Organized around the theme of transgression, the collection focuses on those writers who challenge the reading habits and expectations of students and instructors, whether by engaging themes and literary forms not usually associated with African American literature or by departing from traditional modes of approaching historical social or legal struggles. Each chapter offers a specific reading of a particular novel, memoir, or poetry collection, sometimes in concert with a second related text, and suggests both a useful critical context and one or more pedagogical approaches. Engaging Tradition Making It New points the way toward exciting new methods of teaching and researching authors in this dynamic field. Teaching with the Norton Anthology of World Literature Paula S. Berggren, 2002-01-01 Richard Wright Kenneth Kinnamon, 2014-11-04

African American writer Richard Wright 1908-1960 was celebrated during the early 1940s for his searing autobiography Black Boy and fiction Native Son. By 1947 he felt so unwelcome in his homeland that he exiled himself and his family in Paris. But his writings changed American culture forever, and today they are mainstays of literature and composition classes. He and his works are also the subjects of numerous critical essays and commentaries by contemporary writers. This volume presents a comprehensive annotated bibliography of those essays, books, and articles from 1983 through 2003. Arranged alphabetically by author, within years are some 8,320 entries ranging from unpublished dissertations to book-length studies of African American literature and literary criticism. Also included as an appendix are addenda to the author's earlier bibliography covering the years from 1934 through 1982. This is the exhaustive reference for serious students of Richard Wright and his critics. Centenary Reflections on Mark Twain's No. 44, the Mysterious Stranger Joseph Csicsila, Chad Rohman, 2009

In this first book on No. 44 in thirty years, thirteen especially commissioned essays by some of today's most accomplished Twain scholars cover an array of topics from domesticity and transnationalism to race and religion, and reflect a variety of scholarly and theoretical approaches to the work. This far-reaching collection considers the status of No. 44 within Twain's oeuvre as they offer cogent insights into such broad topics as cross-culturalism, pain and redemption, philosophical paradox, and comparative studies of the Mysterious Stranger manuscripts. All of these essays attest to the importance of this late work in Twain's canon, whether considering how Twain's efforts at truth-telling are premeditated and shaped by his own experiences, tracing the biblical and religious influences that resonate in No. 44, or exploring the text's psychological dimensions. Several address its importance as a culminating work in which Twain's seemingly disjointed story lines coalesce in meaningful albeit not always satisfactory ways. An afterword by Alan Gribben traces the critical history of the Mysterious Stranger manuscripts and the contributions of previous critics. A wide-ranging critical introduction and a comprehensive bibliography on the last century of scholarship bracket the contributions. Close inspection of this multidimensional novel shows how Twain evolved as a self-conscious thinker and humorist and that he was a more conscious artist throughout his career than has been previously thought. Centenary Reflections deepens our understanding of one of Twain's most misunderstood texts, confirming that the author of No. 44 was a pursuer of an elusive truth that was often as mysterious a stranger as Twain himself.

Resources in Education, 1998 The Columbia Guide to Asian American Literature Since 1945 Guiyou Huang, 2006-08-08 The Columbia Guide to Asian American Literature Since 1945 American Poets and Poetry Jeffrey Gray, Mary McAleer Balkun, James McCorkle, 2015-03-10 The ethnically diverse scope, broad chronological coverage, and mix of biographical, critical, historical, political, and cultural entries make this the most useful and exciting poetry reference of its kind for students today. American poetry springs up out of all walks of life; its poems are maternal as well as paternal, stuff'd with the stuff that is coarse and stuff'd with the stuff that is fine. As Walt Whitman wrote, adding "Of every hue and caste am I of every rank and religion." Written for high school and undergraduate students, this two-volume encyclopedia covers U.S. poetry from the Colonial era to the present, offering full treatments of hundreds of key poets of the American canon. What sets this reference apart is that it also discusses events, movements, schools, and poetic approaches, placing poets in their social, historical, political, cultural, and critical contexts and showing how their works mirror the eras in which they were written. Readers will learn about surrealism, ekphrastic poetry, pastoral elegy, the Black Mountain poets, and language poetry. There are long and rich entries on modernism and postmodernism, as well as entries related to the formal and technical dimensions of American poetry. Particular attention is paid to women poets and poets from various ethnic groups. Poets such as Amiri Baraka, Nathaniel Mackey, Natasha Trethewey, and Tracy Smith are featured. The encyclopedia also contains entries on a wide selection of Latino and Native American poets and substantial coverage of the avant-garde and experimental movements, and provides sidebars that illuminate key points.

Christian Home Educators' Curriculum Manual Cathy Duffy, 1997-11 Class and the Making of American Literature Andrew Lawson, 2014-03-14 This book refocuses current understandings of American Literature from the revolutionary period to the present day through an analytical accounting of class, reestablishing a foundation for discussions of class in American culture. American Studies scholars have explored the ways in which American society operates through inequality and modes of social control, focusing primarily on issues of status, group identities involving race, ethnicity, gender, sexuality, and disability. The essays in this volume focus on both the historically changing experience of class and its continuing hold on American life The collection visits popular as well as canonical literature recognizing that class is constructed in and mediated by the affective and the sensational It analyzes class division class difference and class identity in American culture enabling readers to grasp why class matters as well as the economic social and political matter of class Redefining the field of American literary cultural studies and asking it to rethink its preoccupation with race and gender as primary determinants of identity contributors explore the disciplining of the laboring body and of the emotions the political role of the novel in contesting the limits of class power and authority and the role of the modern consumer culture in both blurring and sharpening class divisions
