Anatomy Of Injustice A Murder Case Gone Wrong:

Anatomy of Injustice Raymond Bonner, 2012-02-21 The book that helped free an innocent man who had spent twenty seven years on death row In January 1982 an elderly white widow was found brutally murdered in the small town of Greenwood South Carolina Police immediately arrested Edward Lee Elmore a semiliterate mentally retarded black man with no previous felony record His only connection to the victim was having cleaned her gutters and windows but barely ninety days after the victim s body was found he was tried convicted and sentenced to death Elmore had been on death row for eleven years when a young attorney named Diana Holt first learned of his case After attending the University of Texas School of Law Holt was eager to help the disenfranchised and voiceless she herself had been a childhood victim of abuse It required little scrutiny for Holt to discern that Elmore s case plagued by incompetent court appointed defense attorneys a virulent prosecution and both misplaced and contaminated evidence reeked of injustice It was the cause of a lifetime for the spirited hardworking lawyer Holt would spend more than a decade fighting on Elmore s behalf With the exemplary moral commitment and tenacious investigation that have distinguished his reporting career Bonner follows Holt s battle to save Elmore s life and shows us how his case is a textbook example of what can go wrong in the American justice system He reviews police work evidence gathering jury selection work of court appointed lawyers latitude of judges iniquities in the law prison informants and the appeals process Throughout the actions and motivations of both unlikely heroes and shameful villains in our justice system are vividly revealed Moving suspenseful and enlightening Anatomy of Injustice is a vital contribution to our nation s ongoing increasingly important debate about inequality and the death penalty Proof of Guilt

Kathleen A. Commission can only refer a case where it believes there is a real possibility that the Court will quash the conviction. The first empirical study of all stages of decision making within the Commission. This book starts from the premise that the test applied by the Commission, the real possibility test, is not inflexible. Though created by statute and refined through case law, it must be determined on a case-by-case basis, drawing too on cultural and structural variables alongside fresh evidence gathered by the Commission. Through in-depth analysis of case files and interviews, Hoyle and Sato scrutinize the Commission's operational practices, its working rules and assumptions, considering how these influence its understanding of the real possibility test. Situating their rich empirical data within a framework of the Commission's social, organizational and legal contexts, this book demonstrates that in its open-ended investigations, there is considerable scope for discretion for thorough exploration of all possible avenues or for choosing a more superficial consideration of a case. It emerges that while structured internal guidance, drawing heavily on Court jurisprudence, shapes decision making, creating consistency in approach, there remains some variability across cases over time that can be accounted for by the different professional backgrounds and personalities of Commission staff.

Manifest Injustice Barry Siegel, 2025-06-25. In this remarkable legal page-turner, Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist Barry Siegel recounts the dramatic, decades-long saga of Bill Macomber, imprisoned for thirty-eight years for a double homicide he denies committing. In the spring of 1962, a school bus full of students stumbled across a mysterious crime scene on an isolated stretch of Arizona desert: an abandoned car and two bodies. This brutal murder of a young couple bewildered the sheriff's department of Maricopa County for years. Despite a few promising leads, including several chilling confessions from Ernest Valenzuela, a violent repeat offender, the case went cold. More than a decade later, a clerk in the sheriff's department, Carol Macomber, came forward to tell police that her estranged husband had confessed to the murders. Though the evidence linking Bill Macomber to the incident was questionable, he was arrested and charged with the crime. During his trial, the judge refused to allow the confession of now-deceased Ernest Valenzuela to be admitted as evidence, in part because of the attorney-client privilege. Bill Macomber was found guilty and sentenced to life in prison. The case, rife with extraordinary irregularities, attracted the sustained involvement of the Arizona Justice Project, one of the first and most respected of the non-profit groups that represent victims of manifest injustice across the country. With more twists and turns than a Hollywood movie, Macomber's story illuminates startling, upsetting truths about our justice system, which kept a possibly innocent man locked up for almost forty years, and introduces readers to the generations of dedicated lawyers who never stopped working on his behalf, lawyers who ultimately achieved stunning results. With precise journalistic detail, intimate access and masterly storytelling, Barry Siegel will change your understanding of American jurisprudence, police procedure and what constitutes justice in our country today.

Criminal Testimonial Injustice Jennifer Lackey, 2023. Drawing on work across philosophy, the law and social psychology, Jennifer Lackey shows how in the American criminal legal system, testimony is extracted from individuals through processes that are coercive, manipulative or deceptive. She urges the need to respect the epistemic agency of each participant in the system
