Stone Tools and Fossil Bones Manuel Domínguez-Rodrigo, 2012-03-26
International archaeologists examine early Stone Age tools and bones to present the most holistic view to date of the archaeology of human origins
Mark Lane Express , 1892 How Things Shape the Mind Lambros Malafouris, 2016-02-12 An account of the different ways in which things have become cognitive extensions of the human body from prehistory to the present An increasingly influential school of thought in cognitive science views the mind as embodied extended and distributed rather than brain bound or all in the head This shift in perspective raises important questions about the relationship between cognition and material culture posing major challenges for philosophy cognitive science archaeology and anthropology In How Things Shape the Mind Lambros Malafouris proposes a cross disciplinary analytical framework for investigating the ways in which things have become cognitive extensions of the human body Using a variety of examples and case studies he considers how those ways might have changed from earliest prehistory to the present Malafouris s Material Engagement Theory definitively adds materiality the world of things artifacts and material signs into the cognitive equation His account not only questions conventional intuitions about the boundaries and location of the human mind but also suggests that we rethink classical archaeological assumptions about human cognitive evolution
