2015 Global Hunger Index von Grebmer, Klaus, Bernstein, Jill, de Waal, Alex, Prasai, Nilam, Yin, Sandra, Yohannes, Yisehac, 2015-10-12 The developing world has made progress in reducing hunger since 2000 The 2015 Global Hunger Index GHI shows that the level of hunger in developing countries as a group has fallen by 27 percent Yet the state of hunger in the world remains serious This marks the tenth year that IFPRI has assessed global hunger using this multidimensional measure This report's GHI scores are based on a new improved formula that replaces the child underweight indicator of previous years with child stunting and child wasting This change reflects the latest thinking on the most suitable indicators for child undernutrition one of three dimensions of hunger reflected in the GHI formula Across regions and countries GHI scores vary considerably Regionally the highest GHI scores and therefore the highest hunger levels are still found in Africa south of the Sahara and South Asia Despite achieving the largest absolute improvements since 2000 these two regions still suffer from serious levels of hunger Levels of hunger are alarming or serious in 52 countries Most of the eight countries with alarming GHI scores are in Africa south of the Sahara While no countries are classified in the extremely alarming category this year this high level of hunger could still exist Due to insufficient data 2015 GHI scores could not be calculated for places that recently suffered from high levels of hunger including Burundi Comoros Democratic Republic of the Congo Eritrea Somalia South Sudan and Sudan 2015 Global Hunger Index Interactive App <http://ghi.ifpri.org> Zimbabwe International Monetary Fund. African Dept., 2017-07-07 This 2017 Article IV Consultation highlights that Zimbabwe's economy is facing difficulties A severe drought and slow reform momentum have led to high expenditure levels since late 2015 despite subdued revenues With limited access to foreign inflows the ensuing fiscal imbalances have become unsustainable and are being financed by rising domestic borrowing Growth in 2017 is expected to be supported by a strong performance in agriculture mainly owing to exceptional rains However economic activity in the medium term is projected to remain subdued pending adjustment and reform that tackle the structural challenges and enable the economy to restore fiscal and external sustainability and achieve its growth potential Economic Inclusion in Post-Independence Africa David Mhlanga, Emmanuel Ndhlovu, 2023-09-04 The second in a three volume series this edited volume discusses post independence economic inclusion in selected African countries While human development indices rise and poverty rates fall across the African continent facilitated by recent technological and innovation development which reaches previously inaccessible regions indicators continue to lag in several crucial areas Economic and social inclusion therefore remains at the forefront of development discussions across the continent Using a variety of case studies underpinned by multidisciplinary research approaches the chapters in this book explore a wide range of economic and financial inclusion issues from all aspects from benefits and challenges to the steps that need to be taken to improve the level of economic inclusion on the continent Governments development agencies non governmental organizations with a bias toward development students and university lecturers will all find this book

interesting Urban Water Governance in Postcolonial Zimbabwe Abraham R. Matamanda, Tazviona R. Gambe, Johannes I. Bhanye, Tafadzwa C. Maramura, Oratilwe Annastacia Khoza, 2025-09-04 This book focuses on urban water supply and governance in the Global South using urban Zimbabwe as a case study to provide insights and perspectives into the realities of the water governance. Applying a resilience and sustainability perspective, we argue that fragmentation of responsibilities between various institutions, the difficulty of coordination at various levels, and the politics centered on water supply constrain effective water governance in Zimbabwe. This has resulted in a downward spiral in urban water services in Zimbabwe's urban centers. Additionally, the innovative nature of this study is to draw from an often neglected dimension in urban water governance, which is the political ecology, which brings into perspective the varying interests associated with environmental contests and conflicts that influence water allocation and sharing among urban areas by the public sector. Therefore, this book dwells on understanding the political, economic, and ecology of water governance through an interdisciplinary lens. This analysis is critical for this study because Zimbabwe's current state of obsolete water infrastructure has also had a negative impact on the supply of high quality portable water services to the public in urban areas. This book will be a critical read for academic and professionals in the fields of urban geographers, planners, sociologists, and water experts. It will also be useful for undergraduate and postgraduate students from Geography, Urban and regional Planning, Political Science, Development Studies, and Economics. Locally Relevant ICT Research Kirstin Krauss, Marita Turpin, Filistea Naude, 2019-01-17 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 10th International Development Informatics Association Conference IDIA 2018 held in Tshwane, South Africa, in August 2018. The 20 revised full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 61 submissions. The papers are organized in topical sections on ICT adoption and impact, mobile education, e education, community development, design, innovation, and maturity data. Health Systems Recovery in the Context of COVID-19 and Protracted Conflict Zsuzsanna Jakab, Sohel Saikat, Duncan Selbie, Saqif Mustafa, Yu Zhang, Geraldine McDarby, Mila Petrova, Redda Seifeldin, 2023-07-10 The COVID-19 pandemic has caused unprecedented disruption worldwide, highlighting once again the interdependency of health and socioeconomic development and the global lack of health systems resilience. Two years into the pandemic, most countries report sustained disruptions across service delivery platforms and health areas, with a profound impact on health outcomes. The impact of these disruptions is magnified within marginalized communities and in countries experiencing protracted conflict. There is an urgent need to focus on recovery through investment in the essential public health functions (EPHFs) and the foundations of health systems, with a focus on primary health care and whole-of-government and society engagement. The aim of this Research Topic is to gather, transfer, and promote operationalization of key experiences from COVID-19 to inform global and country-level recovery that better promotes health, guide policy direction towards building health systems resilience, and thereby ensure economic and social prosperity. Experience with COVID-19 has demonstrated that traditional approaches to health system strengthening have failed to achieve the complementary goals of Universal Health Coverage UHC and health security with the divide between the most vulnerable and well off only widening Much of what had been learned from previous experiences such as Ebola in West Africa has not been widely applied This has left health and economic systems vulnerable to 21 st century public health challenges ranging from conflict and natural disasters to aging demographics and rising rates of non communicable and communicable diseases and antimicrobial resistance These challenges require intentional focus and investment as well as whole of government and society engagement with health to build health system resilience Greater action is needed to prevent the devastating effects of war and conflict on the health of the most vulnerable This Research Topic will convene the knowledge and practices of leaders in public health health systems and humanitarian and development sectors This is to ensure lessons from COVID 19 inform the recovery agenda and promote sustainable health and socioeconomic recovery for all Lest we forget and find ourselves again unprepared and vulnerable in the face of an even greater threat Zimbabwe Millennium Development Goals Zimbabwe,United Nations,2004 Kanyenze:

Tourism, Change and the Global South Jarkko Saarinen,Jayne M. Rogerson,2021-06-16 This significant volume is the first to focus on both the changing nature of tourism and the capacity of tourism to effect change especially in the Global South Geographically this changing nature of tourism is based on the transforming relationships between demand supply and location While this is nothing new in tourism recent decades have intensified the changing characteristics of global tourism From another perspective tourism represents a change and nowadays many localities and regions aim to use tourism as a tool for positive change i e development However this has turned out to be a challenging task in practice especially in the Global South context where the relationship between tourism growth and local development has often been controversial This book looks at a host of critical concepts in one volume such as growth and development adaptation and resilience sustainability and responsibility governance and planning and heritage and destination management strategies By understanding the drivers of change this book sheds new insight into the promise and role of sustainability and responsibility in tourism development This book will be of great interest to all upper level students academics and researchers in the fields of Tourism Geography and Cultural and Heritage studies Unasyuva ,2012 Annual Report Zimbabwe Investment Authority, Understanding Gender Equality in Zimbabwe Zimbabwe National Statistics Agency,2016 New Public

Management in Africa Benon C. Basheka, Lukamba-Muhiya. Tshombe, 2017-08-25 The administrative sciences have been dominated by a turn to managerial perspectives in the late 20th and early 21st centuries and in the spirit of this turn New Public Management or NPM promises to produce efficient responsible and client oriented public services The reforms carried out in the pursuit of New Public Management are often accompanied by great optimism and rapid enthusiastic steps toward implementation Even in highly developed industrial countries however these fundamental reforms often overlook the political and cultural contexts of the implementing country New Public Management in Africa Emerging Issues and Lessons provides much needed theoretical foundations for NPM reforms in the African context and reflects on the success of existing reforms in the development of several African states The individual contributions in this timely volume provide important analyses of academic discourse practical policy achievements and desiderata The book as a whole however provides a valuable impetus for public administration research in and on African states sharing findings on the results of reforms to date and adjustments required for these reforms to succeed For public administration researchers outside of Africa this book offers a review of New Public Management case studies that are unavailable or difficult to find elsewhere contributing much to the exchange between African and Western administration science research and demonstrating that African administrative research is well prepared to help resolve global challenges
