

Writing an Analytical Essay

These are guidelines intended to function as a point of reference and to make writing an analytical essay a less daunting task. These are not hard and fast rules; the best essays are those that deviate in creative and appropriate ways.

Introduction

Point of Interest—something that will catch the reader's attention

Context—information that frames and narrows the scope of the essay

Thesis—what the essay will do or show

Definition of Key terms—clarification of subjective words in the thesis

Articulation—brief chronology of main topics

II. Body Paragraphs

The easiest way to write body paragraphs is to begin with the evidence since it should be the basis for your analysis, and then build each paragraph around it, writing the parts 1 through 5, though they will still be arranged in conventional order—as written below.

4. Topic Sentence—mini-thesis/what the paragraph will do or show

2. Context—information necessary to understand the evidence

1. Evidence—(quotation) from where in the text the ideas are derived

3. Analysis—interpretation of the evidence/what it means or suggests

5. Return to Thesis—how the analysis supports the thesis

III. Conclusion

Restatement of Thesis and Summarization of Key Points—reworking of major trains of thought that together serve to establish a deeper understanding of the text than each previously did alone

Opinion or Recommendation—discussion of consequences (personal or otherwise) and, if relevant, a proposed course of action

Words that Count: A Guide to Writing Analytical Essays about Fiction Kate Sheckler, 2019-01-01 Language is complex Written or spoken the complexity of language makes the medium the versatile tool

we need but also creates the potential for a wide variety of misunderstandings and mistakes Whether we are attempting to understand a piece of fiction or writing a text to make our thoughts comprehensible to others the complexity of language is both necessary and fraught That said the inevitable pitfalls don't mean we need to sacrifice precision or accuracy This guide is a step by step process that offers hands on methods for accurate analysis and precise essay construction Chapter one deals with a variety of methods by which to approach stories and novels such that your analysis is structured on carefully constructed logical progression founded on the primary text rather than on hunches and guesswork and chapter two offers infrastructures and scaffolding on which any essay can be structured The structures included in chapter two are not a template and thus do not limit style or content rather they are based on a series of tasks that must be completed for an argument to be convincing As such the tasks offer a kind of map through the process of essay writing that always indicates your next step Contrary to accepted mythologies about analyzing fiction and writing essays neither is a guessing game and this text can help you remove the guesswork from your own process
