truth Elizabeth Loftus on memory Steven Pinker on the notion of progress and many others covering topics from the politicization of science to the frightening rise of misinformation each entry in this collection brings scientific examination to bear in order to ferret out the facts and misconceptions behind popular claims All of the articles within are interesting and readable Yet they are also quite diverse Some articles reinforce and complement each other others as happens in science may voice disagreements or differing perspectives But they all have one thing in common a respect for evidence a demand for the best most well tested most scientifically reliable information Readers will learn Why and how conspiracy rumors start spread and readily gain believers How to stay afloat in a sea of disinformation and survive the age of misinformation Why and how we form beliefs and adhere to them so powerfully How and why memory is fallible and what we can do about it How pseudoexperiments mislead the public about science Unreason will arm readers with scientific knowledge to curb the misinformation and misconceptions that increasingly threaten our civil discourse Even further these essays present a way for us to be better citizens equipped to deal with the winds of misinformation and disinformation swirling about us and better able to look ahead to a world where science and reason indeed just good old common sense can prevail On

Unemployment, Volume II Mark R. Reiff, 2015-10-07 With unemployment at historically high rates that show signs of becoming structural there is a pressing need for an in depth exploration of this economic injustice Unemployment is one of the problems most likely to put critical pressure on our political institutions disrupt the social fabric of our way of life and even threaten the continuation of liberalism itself Despite the obvious importance of the problem of unemployment however there has been a curious lack of attention paid to this issue by contemporary non Marxist political philosophers On Unemployment explores the moral implications of the problem of unemployment despite the continuing uncertainty involving both its causes and its cures Reiff takes up a series of questions about the nature of unemployment and what justice has to tell us about what we should do if anything to alleviate it The book comprehensively discusses the related theory and suggests how we might implement these more general observations in the real world It addresses the politics of unemployment and the extent to which opposition to some or all of the book's various proposals stem not from empirical disagreements about the best solutions but from more basic moral disagreements about whether the reduction of unemployment is indeed an appropriate moral goal This exciting new text will be essential for scholars and readers across business economics and finance as well as politics philosophy and sociology Administrative Healthcare Data Craig

Dickstein, Renu Gehring, 2014-10 Explains the source and content of administrative healthcare data which is the product of financial reimbursement for healthcare services The book integrates the business knowledge of healthcare data with practical and pertinent case studies as shown in SAS Enterprise Guide
