Caught in the Crossfire Naseem Akhtar Khan,2024-09-30 A memoir challenging false international narrative about Pakistan offering insights from four decades of counterintelligence experience The author believes that all international strategic manoeuvrings in the region mostly rely on information that is entirely fabricated and portrayed by Pakistan s adversaries to harm its national interests In his opinion knowing a realistic picture of Pakistan and the Pakistan army in its true perspective is important not only for people inside the country but also for the international community so that they may pursue their relationships and cooperation in the region based on ground realities Considering his personal experiences in security and counterintelligence operations during last four decades he thought of writing this book He believes that his narrative provides a virtuous material for analysts to ponder history through an authentic premise and predict futuristic security scenarios based on a realistic perspective To present his arguments with facts and figures in a cohesive manner the author has presented the narrative in shape of a memoir of his lifelong experiences in a cohesive manner taking full measure of the individuals institutions and organizations that made a strong impression on his life During the process an effort has been made to take the readers along the same curve he followed so that they can clearly grasp the dynamics that drives the life of a Pakistani soldier Defence Journal ,2006 The Pakistan National Bibliography ,1986 Climate Change

Jacobs, 2017-10-24 The diverse composition of American families and changing ways of raising our children have become subjects of intense scrutiny by researchers and policymakers in recent years Shifting demographics and work patterns growing numbers of women in the work force teenage pregnancy single parent families and the deinstitutionalization of the elderly disabled and mentally ill all these trends have significantly affected family life Evaluating Family Programs effectively bridges the gap between researchers and practitioners in order to bring practical understandable advice to providers of family programs and to program funders and policymakers Heather B Weiss and Francine H Jacobs have collected in this volume works which move outside the traditional approaches of their disciplines to create new models for delivering and evaluating services This sets a mood of genuine inquiry and excitement about successful aspects of programs while maintaining openness about the limitations of both research and practice By expanding the research model this work is an attempt to understand reciprocal influences of extended family culture community and social institutions It urges those who advocate program accountability to understand that not all types of evaluations are appropriate for all programs and it notes that limitations in current evaluation technologies make it difficult to evaluate outcomes Evaluating Family Programs reminds the reader that in order to develop sound family policy we must look at children and families in context Because policymakers program administrators and informed citizens have come to rely more upon the results of evaluation research we must improve our methods while not losing sight of its limitations It is a thought provoking contribution to the efforts of
