

Inspection and Repair

Before inspecting the individual parts of the cylinder, all parts should be thoroughly washed in a clean solvent and blown dry.

1. Carefully check the cylinder bore for scratches or grooves. Very slight shallow scratches can be polished out with emery cloth and oil so that a smooth surface is presented to the piston rings and seal. Use a rotary motion when polishing. Never stroke the emery lengthwise through the tube. Deeper scores or grooves will require replacement of the cylinder tube.

2. Inspect the cylinder bore for roundness throughout its length. If a tight spot is noticed while removing the piston, the area of binding should be given particular attention. A tube that is out of round should be replaced.

3. Inspect the piston for deep scratches and wear around the outer edge.

NOTE: The piston and rod can be serviced only as an assembly.

4. Use new O-rings and piston rod wipers in the cylinder heads.

Reassembly

Before reassembling the cylinder, be sure to clean all parts thoroughly and blow dry. Coat all internal parts with Hy-Tran fluid before reassembly.

1. Support the cylinder body in a press, and press new bushings into place as shown.

- 1. Drive plate
- 2. Cylinder body

2. Install a new seal ring on the piston.

NOTE: After installing the seal ring, it will be stretched slightly. A hose clamp or piston ring compressor can be used to "compress" the seal ring and after a few minutes the seal ring will return to its original diameter.

- 2. Ring compressor
