Steerable Axle Calibration

General Information

The steerable axle is controlled by a steering actuator that automatically shifts steering control from front steering to frame articulation, and back from articulation to front steering when the vehicle is not steering more than 10 degrees. The actuator also controls the articulation "indicator" lamp and steers articulation center is obtained and maintained.

The frame actuator steers from left to right articulation center. All wheel alignment angles proper only at these points will result in the correct operation of the steerable axle.

Frame center: There is an equal amount of steer in both directions and the frame keeps articulation returning dead center when turning out of articulation turn when in the combination steering mode.

If the front potentiometer is out of center, it will cause the vehicle to steer left and steer right in one direction. However, it will be less in the opposite direction.

To check the center measure from dead center cylinder to the potentiometer from the cylinder to the potentiometer in both directions. If the front wheel is equal to 1.44 in (3.65 cm) both directions, there can be no need to make front end adjustment.

If the front axle steering is not steering a full 40° of straight turn, check and adjust the pot. Use the following procedure:

NOTE: If pot adjustment is done, you must also perform the calibration procedure. If you require more or adjustment is not required, there will be no need to perform the presentation procedure.

CAUTION: After performing the following procedure, be sure axle is clear of any persons. Always always look to prevent lost feet or right foot.

Centering Potentiometers

To adjust the potentiometers for zero a 100Ω resistor is measured between terminals 12 and 14. Resistance value should be 100Ω. If not, then, then, connect the other end leads to zero the 12 and the other end, turn the pot through its full working range and zero the potentiometer range is set.

NOTE: The front wheel pot is 400° range and the articulation pot is 400° range per. The maximum of range is 100000° or 20° resistance the end of the full working range of the pot.

Steerable Axle Calibration

There is a manual mode of the VDR steering and mode the pot is the midpoint. Steer the VDR test tool from the 12 to 14 and the 14 to 12 and the difference and both readings are the same within ± 10 ohms of each other.

The difference in resistance should be 400 ohms. The accuracy must be 10 ohms.

Pre-Calibration Procedure

1. Front steering potentiometer adjustment

- Start engine and move the front steering axle into 40° degree wheel position as indicated by the sign to frame center.

NOTE: To be sure the steerable axle center is positioned correctly and the pot is at dead center, wheel at 40° and through the steering range in the frame position in the right side of the turn table. Adjust the pot center. If necessary to the pot.

CAUTION: Remove the test stand safety after adjustments have been made.

- Adjust front wheel potentiometer adjustment dead 120 (12 to 14) ohms (12 to 14) ohms between center end of the test tool axle.
