State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs Appropriations for 2013 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs, 2012 Examining the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) Juichi Inada, 2025-03-08 This book endeavors to examine the impact of China's rapid ascendance as a donor on the international development assistance regime over the past two decades. China's rapid economic rise and the success of its economic development have led to a notable trend among many developing countries to view the way of China as a Chinese development model and to imitate it. In addition, China itself has been conscious of the challenge to the development theory and international development assistance regime that has been led mainly by the West and has pushed for policies that differ from those of traditional donors. The Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) which was announced in 2013 is emblematic of these distinctive developments in China. The proliferation of the Chinese development model in the context of these international trends has led some to view it as the global spread of the Beijing Consensus which has replaced the Washington Consensus led by the Bretton Woods Institutions that have exerted significant influence in the past. This book presents case studies of several countries based on the author's field research in Cambodia, Sri Lanka, Myanmar, Angola, Rwanda, and other countries.

Angola Operational Plan Report Fy 2013 United States Department of State, 2014-11-12 In 2011 Secretary Clinton called on the world to join in the fight for an AIDS Free generation and in 2012 the Secretary revealed a PEPFAR President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief Blueprint outlining the path to making this a reality. Aligned with the Global Health Initiative (GHI) Strategy, our Partnership Framework (PF) and the Blueprint's policy imperative, Angola's PEPFAR initiatives are based on strategic, scientifically sound investments to scale up core HIV prevention to maximize impact. Based on a capacity building systems strengthening model, PEPFAR Angola is working with partners to effectively mobilize, coordinate, and efficiently use resources to save more lives sooner. The focus will be on key populations, women and girls, to increase gender equality and ending stigma and discrimination against people living with HIV. Cross Cutting Appendix A This will be measured by setting benchmarks that are regularly assessed with the long term goal of country ownership. The Angola PEPFAR Team will continue to build upon successes of our past, maintaining current programs like supporting the Government of Republic of Angola (GRA) INLS INSP CNS decentralization plan with technical assistance in health systems strengthening, implementation of an enhanced Prevention of Mother to Child Transmission (PMTCT) services, building GRA human resources by training local surveillance experts to sustain the country's capacity in strategic information, and supporting the military to strengthen its HIV Prevention Program and promote organizational networking with other military partners at the regional level. In addition to continuing programs in fiscal year 2014, Angola PEPFAR will expand PMTCT and HIV testing and counseling in Luanda province and coordinate HIV initiatives across borders to demonstrate collaboration with our neighbors in unity toward an AIDS Free generation. The United States Government (USG)

Appendix C utilizes a technical assistance approach in areas identified by the Ministry of Health MoH Secretary Clinton stated in her remarks at the 2012 International AIDS conference that we should continue to be focused on supporting high impact interventions and make tough decisions driven by science This is the fundamental goal of the Angola PEPFAR program

Crisis Management Beyond the Humanitarian-Development Nexus Atsushi Hanatani, Oscar A. Gómez, Chigumi Kawaguchi, 2018-09-27 In addressing humanitarian crises the international community has long understood the need to extend beyond providing immediate relief and to engage with long term recovery activities and the prevention of similar crises in the future However this continuum from short term relief to rehabilitation and development has often proved difficult to achieve This book aims to shed light on the continuum of humanitarian crisis management particularly from the viewpoint of major bilateral donors and agencies Focusing on cases of armed conflicts and disasters the authors describe the evolution of approaches and lessons learnt in practice when moving from emergency relief to recovery and prevention of future crises Drawing on an extensive research project conducted by the Japan International Cooperation Agency Research Institute this book compares how a range of international organizations bilateral cooperation agencies NGOs and research institutes have approached the continuum in international humanitarian crisis management The book draws on six humanitarian crises case studies each resulting from armed conflict or natural disasters Timor Leste South Sudan the Syrian crisis Hurricane Mitch in Honduras the Indian Ocean earthquake and tsunami in Indonesia and Typhoon Yolanda The book concludes by proposing a common conceptual framework designed to appeal to different stakeholders involved in crisis management Following on from the World Humanitarian Summit where a new way of working on the humanitarian development nexus was highlighted as one of five major priority trends this book is a timely contribution to the debate which should interest researchers of humanitarian studies conflict and peace studies and disaster risk management

Uganda Operational Plan Report Fy 2013 United States United States Department of State,2014-11-12 In September 2012 the Ministry of Health MOH released the results of the Uganda AIDS Indicator Survey UAIS 2011 which indicated that Uganda continues to experience a severe HIV epidemic HIV prevalence in the general population 15 to 59 years old is estimated to be 7.3% in 2011 compared to 6.4% in 2004. HIV prevalence is higher among women 8.3% than among men 6.1%. Compared to the 2004 UAIS survey the magnitude of change in HIV prevalence varied across regions Central Western Southwestern and Northern regions remain the worst affected while modest declines in prevalence were recorded in the East Central and Mid Eastern regions Of particular concern is the rise in HIV prevalence among young people aged 15-24 years generally and in all age groups specifically in the West Nile and North East regions that previously were least affected UNAIDS projects the number of new annual infections at 150,000 in 2011 an increase from 120,000 in 2004. AIDS mortality is estimated at 62,000 deaths in 2011 the lowest estimate in a long decline since 2000 reflecting the significant expansion of ART. The UNAIDS most recent World AIDS Day Report warned of increasing unprotected sex both sexes and multiple partners women. The estimated number of people infected with HIV has risen to 1.39 million 55% of whom are female and 14% are children under the age of 15 years. HIV is predominantly heterosexually transmitted accounting for 75-80% of new infections. However population subgroups show that the most affected and the risk factors and drivers of HIV infections have evolved in recent years. Studies show an HIV prevalence of 1.2% in university students 15-40% in fishing communities 37% among sex workers 18% in the partners of sex workers and 13% in the group of men with a history of having sex with men. Strikingly 35% of new infections occur amongst self reported monogamous individuals which raises concerns regarding rising multiple concurrent partnerships. The remaining transmissions are largely due to mother to child HIV transmission. In response to the 2011 UAIS results PEPFAR revised its programmatic and technical approaches and targets to better respond to Uganda's escalating epidemic. The 2013 COP is based on scientific evidence prioritized proven interventions resources matched effectively across subpopulations and efforts directed towards sources of new infections to assist the HIV/AIDS epidemic response in Uganda. The 2013 COP is the product of a consultative process that involved the GOU PEPFAR implementing partners IP and bilateral and multilateral donors.
