Sentencing Policy and Social Justice Ralph Henham, 2018-02-22 Sentencing Policy and Social Justice argues that the promotion of social justice should become a key objective of sentencing policy advancing the argument that the legitimacy of sentencing ultimately depends upon the strength of the relationship between social morality and penal ideology It sheds light on how shared moral values can influence sentencing policy at a time when relationships of community appear increasingly fragmented arguing that sentencing will be better placed to make a positive contribution to social justice if it becomes more sensitive to the commonly accepted moral boundaries that underpin adherence to the rule of law The need to reflect public opinion in sentencing has received significant attention more recently with renewed interest in jury sentencing stakeholder sentencing and the involvement of community views when regulating policy The author however advocates a different approach combining a new theoretical focus with practical suggestions for reform and arguing that the contribution sentencing can make to social justice necessitates a fundamental change in the way shared values about the advantages of punishment are reflected in penal ideology and sentencing policy Using examples from international comparative and domestic contexts to advance the moral and ethical case for challenging the existing theories of sentencing the book develops the author's previous theoretical ideas and outlines how these changes could be given practical shape within the context of sentencing in England and Wales It assesses the consequences for penal governance due to increased state regulation of discretionary sentencing power and examines the prospects for achieving the kind of moral transformation regarded as necessary to reverse such a move To illustrate these issues each chapter focuses on a particularly problematic area for contemporary sentencing policy namely the sentencing of women the sentencing of irregular migrants sentencing for offences of serious public disorder and sentencing for financial crime

Handbook of Gentrification Studies Loretta Lees, Martin Phillips, 2018-04-27 It is now over 50 years since the term gentrification was first coined by the British urbanist Ruth Glass in 1964 in which time gentrification studies has become a subject in its own right This Handbook the first ever in gentrification studies is a critical and authoritative assessment of the field Although the Handbook does not seek to rehearse the classic literature on gentrification from the 1970s to the 1990s in detail it is referred to in the new assessments of the field gathered in this volume The original chapters offer an important dialogue between existing theory and new conceptualisations of gentrification for new times and new places in many cases offering novel empirical evidence

Spatializing Marcuse Margath A. Walker, 2022-07-25 This fresh appraisal of philosopher Herbert Marcuse's work foregrounds the geographical aspects of one of the leading social and political theorists of the 20th century Margath A Walker considers how Marcusean philosophies might challenge the way we think about space and politics and create new sensibilities Applying them to contemporary geopolitics digital infrastructure and issues like resistance and immigration the book shows how social change has been stifled and how Marcuse's philosophies could provide the tools to overturn the status quo She demonstrates Marcuse's relevance to individuals and society and finds this important theorist of opposition can point the way to resisting oppressive forces within contemporary capitalism
