science and mathematics teaching in secondary schools in England focusing on the following issues the take up of science and mathematics at GCSE and A level the provision of careers advice to students problems in the recruitment and retention of teachers the quality of teaching methods and the role of continuing professional development The Committee finds that effective science teaching in schools is essential both in order to ensure a satisfactory general level of scientific literacy in society and to enable the next generation of scientists and engineers to progress into higher education and beyond It argues that the current examination system forces students to study an excessively narrow range of subjects at too early an age and it recommends that the Government should reconsider the Tomlinson proposals for a broader diploma based system for 14 19 year old students based on the International Baccalaureate This would ensure that students receive a more rounded education and are not made to over specialise before they are able to see the merits of studying science and mathematics Concerns are also raised about the shortage of science teachers particularly specialist physics and chemistry teachers the quality of careers advice in schools and the importance of practical science in schools

Nations Apart Radka

^D%Sustrová,2024-02-16 Nations Apart reconsiders the Nazi occupation of Bohemia and Moravia during World War II The dismemberment of Czechoslovakia after the 1938 Munich Agreement is typically recalled in Czech historical memory as the beginning of a period of humiliation occupation and resistance Against this narrative of victimhood %Sustrov argues that the Nazi Protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia witnessed the unexpected expansion of the Czech welfare state a process driven by local nationalisms and which in turn contributed inadvertently to the stability of Nazi governance Through extensive research in Czech German and Swiss archives Nations Apart demonstrates that ethnically exclusive Czech national ideology dominated politics and everyday life during Nazi rule Illustrating similarities between the wartime Protectorate and the occupation regimes in Western Europe %Sustrov sheds new light on occupied societies during WWII and on the ambiguous origins of welfare states in post war Europe

The Future of the Professions Richard Susskind,Daniel

Susskind,2022-03-31 This book predicts the decline of today s professions and introduces the people and systems that will replace them In an internet enhanced society according to Richard Susskind and Daniel Susskind we will neither need nor want doctors teachers accountants architects the clergy consultants lawyers and many others to work as they did in the 20th century The Future of the Professions explains how increasingly capable technologies from telepresence to artificial intelligence will place the practical expertise of the finest specialists at the fingertips of everyone often at no or low cost and without face to face interaction The authors challenge the grand bargain the arrangement that grants various monopolies to today s professionals They argue that our current professions are antiquated opaque and no longer affordable and that the expertise of their best is enjoyed only by a few In their place they propose five new models for producing and distributing expertise in society The book raises profound policy issues not least about employment they envisage a new generation of open collared workers and about control over online expertise they warn of new gatekeepers in an era when machines become more capable than human beings at most tasks With a new preface exploring recent critical developments this updated edition builds on the authors groundbreaking research into more than a dozen professions Illustrated with numerous examples from each this is the first book to assess and question the relevance of the professions in the 21st century
