

Addendum to

AICP Exam Prep 1.0 Study Notes

AICP Exam Prep Study Questions and Resources

March 2008

This addendum to the 2005 AICP Exam Prep 1.0 Study Notes and AICP Exam Prep Study Questions and Resources found on CD-ROM provides corrections, clarifications, additions, and updated information that may be helpful in preparing for the exam in 2008.

A key reason for providing this update is that the test content specifications were modified by the AICP Commission in January 2008.

- The distribution of exam questions among the different categories has been adjusted.
- The category previously called "Emerging Trends" is no longer a unique category because demographic trends, smart growth, and neo-traditional and sustainable development are no longer considered emerging approaches to good planning. These topics are included in other categories such as some of the functional areas of practice.
- A new category titled "Spatial Areas of Practice" has been added to the exam specifications. To prepare for this section of the exam, consider the particular planning issues encountered when planning at these different spatial levels.

There is a great deal of overlap among the different categories in the test specifications. While "Spatial Areas" is a new category, a great deal of information pertaining to planning at different spatial levels is contained in the 2005 version of the AICP Exam Prep Study Notes. For a complete list of test specifications, see www.planning.org/certification/subjectmatter.html.

The disclaimers and cautions provided in the 2005 study guide apply similarly to this document. The addendum, like the Study Notes, is not intended to be a comprehensive summary of information needed to pass the exam, but rather suggests the types of information that may be found on the exam. Test takers are strongly encouraged to study recommended readings to prepare for the exam fully.
