Archaeological Thinking How To Make Sense Of The Past:

Archaeological Thinking Charles E. Orser Jr., 2023-07-18 How do archaeologists think How do archaeologists take the scattered and fragmentary remains collected from past settlements and create meaningful reasonable interpretations of past human history In the second edition of Archaeological Thinking Charles E Orser Jr provides answers to these questions and more by explaining in non technical language the most basic elements of critical thinking in archaeology This book explores and explains such topics as the use of logic in framing arguments the curious issue of fact selection the use of analogy the role of archaeology in contemporary society and among present day communities approaches to understanding the past and the dangers of deceitful archaeological thinking Examples taken from the world of ancient aliens mythical sunken cities and mysterious creatures help readers learn how to separate reality from fiction regardless of their desire to become a professional archaeologist

Archaeological Thinking Charles E. Orser, 2015 How do archaeologists think How do they use the scattered and often fragmentary remains from the past both historical and excavated to create meaningful sensible interpretations of human history In Archaeological Thinking Charles E Orser Jr provides a commonsense guide to applying critical thinking skills to archaeological questions and evidence Rather than critiquing and debunking specific cases of pseudo archaeology or concentrating on archaeological theory Orser considers the basics of scientific thinking the use of logic and analogy the meaning and context of facts and the evaluation of source materials He explains concisely and accessibly how archaeologists use these principles to create pictures of the past and teaches students to develop the skills needed to make equally reasoned interpretations

Making Senses of the Past Jo Day, 2013-03-19 Since the nineteenth century museums have kept their artifacts in glass cases to better preserve them and drawings and photographs have become standard ways of presenting the past These practices have led to an archaeology dominated by visual description even though human interaction with the surrounding world involves the whole body and all of its senses In the past few years sensory archaeology has become more prominent and Making Senses of the Past is one of the first collected volumes on this subject This book presents cutting edge research on new theoretical issues The essays presented here take readers on a multisensory journey around the world and across time In ancient Peru a site provides sensory surprises as voices resound beneath the ground and hidden carvings slowly reveal their secrets In Canada and New Zealand the flicker of reflected light from a lake dances on the faces of painted rocks and may have influenced when and why the pigment was applied In Mesopotamia vessels for foodstuffs build a picture of a past cuisine that encompasses taste and social activity in the building of communities While perfume and flowers are examined in various cultures in the chamber tombs of ancient Roman Palestine we are reminded that not all smells are pleasant Making Senses of the Past explores alternative ways to perceive past societies and offers a new way of wiring archaeology that incorporates the senses
