Ocean Observation based on Underwater Acoustic Technology, volume II Xuebo Zhang,Haixin Sun,Arata Kaneko,Suleman Mazhar,2024-12-02 Since the sound wave is the only information carrier that can propagate long distances in the ocean underwater acoustic technology based on sound waves undoubtedly plays an important role in ocean observation The development of underwater acoustic technology requires the support of various underwater acoustic sensors and signal processing techniques The function of an underwater acoustic sensor is to conduct the conversion between an underwater acoustic signal and an electric signal Their performance directly determines the quality of underwater acoustic equipment However the harsh environment such as high pressure high temperature and highly corrosive fluids as well as different requirements such as low frequency broad bandwidth high power and deep water often affect the physical properties of materials and structural performance of transducers which deteriorates the transducer performance Due to the lack of comprehensive research on key techniques including material physical properties and interfacial bond properties the reliability of structural components is often seriously affected by environmental conditions which may lead to major performance degradation or even failure with the device performance Therefore it is challenging for the transducer design to balance the acoustic performance and the device s stability Developments in Animal Health
