Metacognition and Study Skills: A Guide for Teachers Jonathan Firth, 2024-08-13 Pupils often make poor choices when it comes to independent learning because they don't intuitively understand how to learn. In the classroom too they typically misjudge how well they understand new concepts overestimate the accuracy of their own examples and underestimate how much they forget. This book reveals how a metacognitive approach to teaching can help overcome these challenges and support pupils in their learning. This approach can help them in developing the skills to become successful self-regulated learners. Drawing on key research from cognitive science this book explores how metacognition works in practice and argues that it is a complex skill best developed over months and years at school. It provides a blueprint for how learning to learn alongside quick wins that teachers can implement straight away. Chapters cover The metacognitive processes that underpin effective learning Myths about learning and how pupils' memory really works Quick to apply classroom strategies for before during and after tasks Different independent study techniques and how to embed them Developing a culture of metacognition Full of practical strategies and case studies this is essential reading for all teachers who want to help their pupils become successful learners in school as well as independent learners for their exam revision and beyond Alternative

Accountabilities in Global Politics Brent J. Steele, 2013 In fields such as politics international relations public administration and international law there is a rapidly growing interest in the topic of accountability. In this innovative new work Steele shows how we might recognize how an alternative form of accountability in global politics has been present for some time and that furthermore this form's continued presence remains one of the most politically powerful if not endurable possibilities for resistance in the near future. This book argues that the physical and visually shocking outcomes of violence found on the bodies of humans as well as the buildings and landscapes which surround us specifically the scars they leave behind remain one of our most compelling forms of accountability. Steele develops the theoretical argument on scars and exteriority utilizing insights from several philosophical and theoretical resources including Hannah Arendt Erving Goffman and Richard Rorty. The work examines scars and their effects through several illustrations including the accounts of Emmett Till Iranian protestor Neda Agha Soltan the Syrian boy Hamza al Khateeb the massacre in WWII and then memorializing throughout the 20th century of the Lidice children in the modern day Czech Republic the particular architecturally destructive outcomes of the 2008-9 Gaza War the loss of the Twin Towers in New York as well as a variety of violent scars found on the landscapes of Europe and Southeast Asia. Emphasizing the importance of the space and time of scars the book illustrates how an alternative form of accountability in the scar can be a useful disruptive spontaneous but also creative practice to challenge the discourses of violence which remain with us today.
