(Liton) Kamruzzaman, 2019-04-30 The concept of sustainable urban development has been pushed to the forefront of policymaking and politics as the world wakes up to the impacts of climate change and the destructive effects of the Anthropocene Climate change has emerged to be one of the biggest challenges faced by our planet today threatening both built and natural systems with long term consequences which may be irreversible While there is a vast body of literature on sustainability and sustainable urban development there is currently limited focus on how to cohesively bring together the vital issues of the planning development and management of sustainable cities Moreover it has been widely stated that current practices and lifestyles cannot continue if we are to leave a healthy living planet to not only the next generation but also to the generations beyond The current global school strikes for climate action known as Fridays for Future evidences this The book advocates the view that the focus needs to rest on ways in which our cities and industries can become green enough to avoid urban ecocide This book fills a gap in the literature by bringing together issues related to the planning development and management of cities and focusing on a triple bottom line approach to sustainability EPA Cumulative Bibliography United States.
